Research Guide to U.S. and International Interest Groups

Edited by Clive S. Thomas
Contents

 Preface xv

1 Introduction: The Study of Interest Groups 1
  1.1. Special Features of This Book and the Purpose of This Chapter 1
  1.2. Defining Interest Group and Related Terms 3
  1.3. The Functions of Interest Groups: Their Private Goals and Public Roles 7
  1.4. Problems of Studying Interest Groups 10
  1.5. Theoretical Approaches in the Study of Interest Groups and the Schools of Focus of Scholars 12
  1.6. The Two Major Categories of Subject Matter of Interest Group Studies 16
  1.7. Types of Studies and Methods of Study 18
  1.8. Guidelines for Using This Book 20

2 Sources of Information on Interest Groups in the American Political System: An Overview 25
  2.1. Introduction 25
  2.2. Popular Writing: Newspapers, Magazines, and Books 25
  2.3. Textbooks 26
  2.4. Conference Papers, Journal Articles, and Monographs 29
CONTENTS

2.5. Major Categories of Research and Their Findings 30
2.6. Primary Sources of Data on Interest Groups 35
2.7. Conclusion: Looking beyond the American Perspective 37

3 General Theories of Interest Group Activity: Pluralism, Corporatism, Neo-Marxism, and Other Explanations 39
3.1. Introduction 39
3.2. Pluralism and Its Modifications 41
3.3. Elitism 47
3.4. Corporatism and Neocorporatist Theory 48
3.5. Political Economy Approaches and Explanations 53
3.6. The Responsible or Strong Political Party Model 57
3.7. Statist-Centered Approaches 60
3.8. Neo-Marxist Approaches 62
3.9. The New Institutionalist Perspective on Interest Groups 63

4 Interest Groups and the Socioeconomic and Political System 67
4.1. Introduction: A Minimally Investigated Topic 67
4.2. Interest Group System Development and Variation: An Overview 69
4.3. Interest Groups and the Structure of the Political and Governmental System 75
4.4. Interest Groups and Political Culture 79
4.5. Interest Groups and Political Parties 82
4.6. Interest Groups and the Social Structure 85
4.7. Interest Groups and Economic Development 87
4.8. Interest Groups and Public Opinion 89
4.9. National Cultures and Lobbying: The Case of the European Union and Its Implications 91
4.10. Peak Associations 93

5 The Origin, Maintenance, Organization, and Mortality of Interest Groups 95
5.1. Introduction 95
5.2. The Origin and Maintenance of Interest Groups 95
5.3. The Internal Organization of Interest Groups 104
5.4. The Composition and Development of the Interest Group System and Group Competition 107
Contents

5.5. The Mortality of Interest Groups 109
5.6. Conclusions: Subjects for Further Study 110

6 Interest Groups in National, State, Local, and Intergovernmental Politics in the United States 113
6.1. Introduction 113
6.2. The Interest Group Universe in Washington, D.C., and the States 114
6.3. Interest Groups in U.S. National Politics 118
6.4. State Interest Groups 122
6.5. Interest Groups in Local Politics 128
6.6. The Intergovernmental Activity of Interest Groups 131
6.7. Public Knowledge of and Attitudes toward Interest Groups and Lobbyists in the United States 135

7 Interests and Interest Groups in the Public Policy Process: (I) Strategies and Tactics 139
7.1. Introduction to Chapters 7, 8, and 9 139
7.2. Strategy and Tactics: Placing U.S. Practice in Perspective 140
7.3. Nonfinancial Involvement of Interest Groups in the Election Process 144
7.4. Political Action Committees (PACs) 147
7.5. Interest Group Involvement in Direct Democracy 149
7.6. Lobbyists: Definitions, Types, and Varying Designations 151
7.7. The Role of Lobbyists 154
7.9. Lobbyists in Countries Outside the United States 165
7.10. Legislative Lobbying 167
7.11. Executive Branch Lobbying in Washington, D.C. 176
7.13. Grassroots Lobbying 181
7.14. Use of the Media, Public Relations, and Advertising 184
7.15. Protests, Demonstrations, and Violence 186
7.16. Iron Triangles, Policy Networks, and Other Subgovernmental Systems of Interest Group Activity 188
7.17. Interest Group Power and Influence 192
CONTENTS

8 Interests and Interest Groups in the Public Policy Process: (II) The Traditional Interests—Business, Labor, Agriculture, Education, and Government

8.1. Classifying Interests and Interest Groups: Problems and Approaches 197
8.2. Business Interests and Politics: An Overview 203
8.3. Chambers of Commerce 205
8.4. The Energy Lobby 206
8.5. Utility Interests 208
8.6. Industrial and Manufacturing Interests 209
8.7. Banking and Finance Interests 211
8.8. Insurance Interests 212
8.9. Agricultural Interests 213
8.10. Labor Interest Groups 217
8.11. Education Interest Groups 221
  8.12.2. U.S. State Agencies as a Lobbying Force 225
  8.12.3. The Local Government Lobby in the United States 226
8.13. Nonmembership Lobbies 228
  8.13.1. Private Foundations 228
  8.13.2. Think Tanks 230
8.15. The Foreign Lobby in the United States 233

9 Interests and Interest Groups in the Public Policy Process: (III) The New Interests and Groups

9.1. Introduction 235
9.2. Ethnic and Racial Minority Groups 236
  9.2.1. African Americans 236
  9.2.2. Latinos 237
  9.2.3. Native Americans 239
  9.2.4. Asian Americans 240
9.3. Indigenous Peoples' Interest Groups 241
9.4. The Women's Lobby 243
Contents

9.5. Public Interest Groups 245
9.6. Good Government Groups 247
9.7. Criminal Justice Interest Groups 248
9.8. Social Issue and Identity Interests 249
  9.8.1. Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Interests 249
  9.8.2. The Poverty, Welfare, and Hunger Lobby 251
  9.8.3. Animal Rights Interest Groups 252
9.9. Pro-Life and Pro-Choice Interest Groups 253
9.10. Environmental Interest Groups 255
9.11. Consumer Groups 256
9.12. Health-Care Interest Groups 257
9.13. Religious Interests 259
9.15. Nongovernmental Organizations (NGOs) 263
9.16. Governance Interests: Antitax and Term Limit Groups 265
9.17. Pro- and Anti-Gun Control Interest Groups 266
9.18. The Tobacco and Antismoking Lobbies 267
9.19. Civil Liberties Interest Groups and Lobbies in the United States 269
9.20. Human Rights Interests: Definitional Problems, Cross-References, and Supplementary Sources 271

10 Comparative Interest Group Studies 275
  10.1. Comparative Analysis and Interest Group Studies 275
  10.2. The Evolution of Comparative Interest Group Studies: The Dominance and Resilience of the Neocorporatist Approach 276
  10.3. Variations in Research: Differences in Approach, Focus, and Scope 278
  10.5. Additional Future Directions for Comparative Interest Group Research 295

11 Interest Groups in Selected Western European and Other Advanced Pluralist Democracies 299
  11.1. The “Recent Discovery” of Interest Groups 299
CONTENTS

11.2. The United Kingdom 301
11.3. Continental Europe 303

11.3.1. Germany, Austria, Switzerland, and the Benelux Countries 303

11.3.2. France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, and Greece 305
11.4. Interest Representation in the European Union 309
11.5. The Nordic Countries 311
11.6. Canada 314
11.7. Australia and New Zealand 315
11.8. Japan 317
11.9. Israel 319

12 Interest Groups in Selected Nonpluralist Regimes, Transitional Democracies, and Developing Societies 323

12.1. The Characteristics of Interests and Interest Group Activity and Approaches to Studying Interests 323
12.2. India and South Asia 327
12.3. The People's Republic of China (PRC) 329
12.4. Taiwan—Republic of China (ROC) 330
12.5. The Middle East and North Africa (Excluding Israel) 331
12.6. South Africa 332
12.7. Sub-Saharan Africa 333
12.8. Eastern Europe: Communist and Transitional Systems 335
12.9. Russia: Post-Communist Interest Group Activity 337
12.10. Latin America 338

13 Interest Groups in International and Transnational Politics 341

13.1. International and Transnational Lobbying Defined 341
13.2. Early Literature on Transnationalism and Regime Theory 342
13.3. Reviving Transnationalism 343
13.4. Sources and Targets of Transnational Lobbying 345
13.5. Targets of Transnational Lobbying: (I) The State 345
13.6. Targets of Transnational Lobbying: (II) International Organizations 347
13.7. Sources of Transnational Lobbying: (I) Issue-Specific Interest Groups 348