

Commercial Satellite Imagery and United Nations Peacekeeping

A View From Above

Edited by

JAMES F. KEELEY

Centre for Military and Strategic Studies

ROB HUEBERT

Department of Political Science, University of Calgary

ASHGATE

Contents

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
List of Contributors	ix
Preface and Acknowledgements	xi
List of Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction: Commercial Satellite Imagery, UN Peacekeeping/Making and National Security: A Canadian Perspective James F. Keeley and Rob Huebert	1
1 International Law Governing the Acquisition and Dissemination of Satellite Imagery Ram Jakhu	11
2 Availability and Potential Use of Low Spatial Resolution Satellite Imagery for Peacekeeping and Disaster Management Mryka Hall-Beyer	31
3 Commercial Satellite Imagery in Peacekeeping Sensor Capabilities – Present and Near Future Jean-Pierre Paquette	41
4 Trends in Commercial Satellite Imaging with Implications for Defence and Security Applications Alvin L. Hanks and Richard C. Gorecki	55
5 Development of Geospatial Technology for Nuclear Information Management C. Vincent Tao and Q.S. (Bob) Truong	69
6 Financial Considerations in the Acquisition of High Resolution Commercial Satellite Imagery for United Nations Peacekeeping and Humanitarian Operations Steve Adam	77
7 The Use of Commercial Satellite Imagery and Canadian Security Needs James F. Keeley	87

8	Organizing the United Nations for Commercial Satellite Imagery James F. Keeley	99
9	Peacekeeping and Intelligence: Single or Double Bed? Alex Morrison	113
10	Commercial Satellite Imagery, Canadian Security Needs and International Law Michel Bourbonnière and Louis Haeck	123
11	Commercial Satellite Imagery and Canadian National Security Robert S. Macleod	137
12	Two Steps Back: The Uncertain Promise for the Strategic Use of Commercial Satellite Imagery Corey Michael Dvorkin	143
13	Access Control of Remote Sensing Satellites Dana G. Clarke	171
14	Blue Eyes: Surveillance Satellites and UN Peacekeeping Ulric Shannon	179
15	Canada and Commercial Satellite Imagery: Technology in Search of a Foreign Policy Rob Huebert	193
	Conclusion James F. Keeley and Rob Huebert	207
	Bibliography	223
	Index	243