Contents

Acknowledgments  xiii

Introduction: Sports and American Literature  xv
  Michael Cocchiarale and Scott D. Emmert

Part I  Who's Keeping Score?
  Values and Sports in American Literature

Batters and Archetypes: Baseball as Trope in Mid-Century
  American Literature  3
  David C. Dougherty

"War . . . May Hasten This Change of Values": The World War II-Era
  Writings of John R. Tunis  15
  Ryan K. Anderson

"Partway There": The Mexican League and American Conflict
  in Mark Winegardner's The Veracruz Blues  29
  Chris York

"The Machine-Language of the Muscles": Reading, Sport, and the Self in Infinite Jest  41
  Stephen J. Burn
Part II  Leaping Hurdles:
Race, Class, and Sports in American Literature

White S(ox) vs. Indians: Sports and Unresolved Cultural Conflict in Native American Fiction
Greg Ahrenhoerster 53

Basketball's Demands in Paul Beatty's The White Boy Shuffle
Tracy Curtis 63

"Fairways of His Imagination": Golf and Social Status in F. Scott Fitzgerald's Fiction
A. Fletcher Cole 75

Dualism and the Quest for Wholeness in Arna Bontemps's God Sends Sunday
Lisa Abney 87

Part III  Put a Body on 'Em:
Gender and Sports in American Literature

The Female Voice in American Sports Literature and the Quest for a Female Sporting Identity
Susan J. Bandy 99

"Monsters" and "Face Queens" in Harry Crews's Body
Andrew J. Price 111

Hypermasculinity and Sport in James Dickey's Deliverance
Mark S. Graybill 121

The Football Elegies of James Dickey and Randall Jarrell: Hegemonic Masculinity versus the "Semifeminine Mind"
Diederik Oostdijk 131

Dancing with the Bulls: Engendering Competition in Hemingway's The Sun Also Rises and Silko's Ceremony
Ron Picard 143

Part IV  What a Beautiful Play!
Language, Aesthetics, and Sports in American Literature

Fouling Out the American Pastoral: Rereading Philip Roth's The Great American Novel
Derek Parker Royal 157
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
<th>xi</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“And Drive Them from the Temple”: Baseball and the Prophet in Eric Rolfe Greenberg’s The Celebrant</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roxanne Harde</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“The Mob of Carefree Men and Boys”: Vanity of Duluoz and Kerouac’s Panoramic Consciousness</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Matthew Kelley</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“And That’s the Ball Game!”: Cognitive Linguistics, the LIFE IS A GAME Metaphor and the Late Twentieth-Century Southern Novel</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Suzanne Disheroon-Green</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Selected Bibliography</td>
<td>201</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Index</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>About the Editors and Contributors</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>