The Art of Brevity
Excursions in Short Fiction Theory and Analysis

Edited by Per Winther,
Jakob Lothe, and Hans H. Skei

University of South Carolina Press
Contents

Introduction vii

Origins, Development, Substance, and Design of the Short Story
How I Got Hooked on the Short Story and Where It Led Me
Mary Rohrberger 1

Why Short Stories Are Essential and Why They Are Seldom Read
Charles E. May 14

Writing Short Stories
My Double Story, with Reflections on Occasion, Tonality, and Direction
Andrew K. Kennedy 26

Real-World Characters in Fictional Story Worlds
Robert Olen Butler’s “JFK Secretly Attends Jackie Auction”
Susan Lohafer 32

Narrative, Lyric, and Plot in Chris Offutt’s Out of the Woods
John Gerlach 44

Closure and Preclosure as Narrative Grid in Short Story Analysis
Some Methodological Suggestions
Per Winther 57

The Illustrated Short Story
Toward a Typology
Stuart Sillars 70

Danish Short Shorts in the 1990s and the Jena-Romantic Fragments
Gitte Mose 81
Aspects of the Fragment in Joyce's Dubliners and Kafka's The Trial
Jakob Lothe 96

Short Notes on Tall Tales
Some Australian Examples
W. H. New 106

When Foreignness and Familiarity Become One
Defamiliarization in Some Canadian Short Stories
Gerd Bjørnhovde 128

Making the Familiar Strange
Representing the House in Sarah Orne Jewett's “The Landscape Chamber” and Linda Hogan’s “Friends and Fortunes”
Laura Castor 138

Architexture in Short Stories by
Flannery O'Connor and Eudora Welty
Jan Nordby Gretlund 151

A Life Remembered
Store Porch Tales from Yoknapatawpha County
Hans H. Skei 162

Faulkner, Welty, and the Short Story Composite
Sandra Lee Kleppe 172

The Queer Short Story
Axel Nissen 181

Melville's Stories as Novel Alternative
Hans B. Löfgren 191

Contributors 201
Index 205