Britta Zangen (ed.)

Misogyny in Literature

Any Place, Any Time

PETER LANG
Frankfurt am Main · Berlin · Bern · Bruxelles · New York · Oxford · Wien
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction 9

Roberta Ricci
Sex? Love? No, Let's Talk About Marriage: Back to Reality with Boccaccio's Onesta Brigata (X, 10) 15

Britta Zangen
Women in Chaucer's Male Universe: Literary Critics Coping with Misogyny 39

Ya-huei Lin
The Women Who Disappear on the Shakespearean Stage: As You Like It, The Taming of the Shrew, and the Misogynic Poetics of Deduction 59

Alison Winch
"The nymph grown Furious, roar'd": Lady Mary Wortley Montagu's Response to Jonathan Swift's "The Lady's Dressing Room" 71

Cynthia Burkhead
Lord Byron and the "She" that Is "Darkness" 89

Maria Mikolchak
Misogyny in Alexander Pushkin: Rescuing the Russian Fairy Tale 99

Jennifer M. Wing
Defining Women in Moby Dick 111

Marco Longo
Misogyny in André Gide's Early pièces: Women and Antidotes 125
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>How Dare They Write?: Early Twentieth-Century Literary Critics and French Women Writers</td>
<td>Melanie E. Collado</td>
<td>149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Othering of Women in the Twentieth-Century Latin American Canon: Misogyny in Rómulo Gallegos' Doña Bárbara</td>
<td>Jorge J. Barrueto</td>
<td>181</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sexual Allegories in Season of Migration to the North by Tayeb Salih: Liberation or Misogyny?</td>
<td>Rached Khalifa</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>On Turkish High Heels: Murathan Mungan's Misogynism Sells</td>
<td>Arda Arikan</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Notes on Contributors</td>
<td></td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>