Women and Work Culture
Britain c.1850–1950

Edited by
KRISTA COWMAN and LOUISE A. JACKSON
Leeds Metropolitan University, Leeds, UK

ASHGATE
Contents

List of Figures and Table vii
List of Contributors viii
General Editor's Preface xi
Acknowledgements xii

Introduction: Women's Work, a Cultural History 1
Krista Cowman and Louise A. Jackson

PART I: WHAT DO WE MEAN BY WORK?

1 Victorian Liberal Feminism and the 'Idea' of Work 27
   Joyce Senders Pedersen

2 Religion and the Meanings of Work: Four Cases from among 48
   the Bright Circle of Women Quakers
   Sandra Stanley Holton

3 Good Housekeeping: Professionalising the Housewife, 1920–50 70
   Judy Giles

PART II: FACTORY LABOUR

4 'Women of True Respectability?' Investigating the London 89
   Work-girl, 1880–1900
   Emma Liggins

5 'It was Just a Real Camaraderie Thing': Socialising, Socialisation 107
   and Shopfloor Culture at the Rowntree Factory, York
   Emma Robertson

PART III: YOUTH

6 'You'd the Feeling You Wanted to Help': Young Women, 123
   Employment and the Family in Inter-war England
   Selina Todd
Women and Work Culture

7 'Be Yourself': Girl and the Business of Growing Up in Late 1950s England
Stephanie Spencer

PART IV: SCIENCE AND MEDICINE

8 'Union is Strength': The Medical Women's Federation and the Politics of Professionalism, 1917–30
Kaarin Michaelsen

9 The Laboratory: A Suitable Place for a Woman? Gender and Laboratory Culture around 1900
Claire Jones

PART V: WOMEN AND WAR

10 All Quiet on the Woolwich Front? Literary and Cultural Constructions of Women Munitions Workers in the First World War
Angela K. Smith

11 Eve in Khaki: Women Working with the British Military, 1915–18
Lucy Noakes

12 'Singing While England is Burning': Women Musicians as Working Music Travellers in Wartime Britain, 1940–43
David Sheridan

Index