Verbal Encounters
Anglo-Saxon and Old Norse Studies for Roberta Frank

Edited by
Antonina Harbus and Russell Poole

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO PRESS
Toronto Buffalo London
CONTENTS

PREFACE vii
ABBREVIATIONS ix
NOTES ON EDITIONS xi

Introduction 1
Roberta Frank: Bibliography, 1970-2003 5

Part I — On Words
1. Early Medieval Chaos 15
   Christopher A. Jones

2. Composing and Joining: How the Anglo-Saxons 39
   Talked about Compounding
   Don Chapman

3. Cennan, 'to cause to be born'/ 'to cause to know': 55
   Incarnation as Revelation in Old English Literature
   Pauline Head

4. Pride, Courage, and Anger: The Polysemousness 77
   of Old English Mod
   Soon-Ai Low

Part II — On Anglo-Latin and Old English Prose
5. Desipere in loco: Style, Memory, and the Teachable Moment 91
   Carin Ruff

6. Courtroom Drama and the Homiletic Monologues of 105
   The Vercelli Book
   Dorothy Haines
Part III — On Old English Poetry

7. ‘Him þæs grim lean becom’: The Theme of Infertility in Genesis A
   Karin Olsen
   127

8. Odd Characters: Runes in Old English Poetry
   Robert DiNapoli
   145

9. The Education of Beowulf and the Affair of the Leisure Class
   Haruko Momma
   163

10. Articulate Contact in Juliana
    Antonina Harbus
    183

Part IV — On Old Norse Literature

11. The Refracted Beam: Einarr Skúlason’s Liturgical Theology
    Martin Chase
    203

12. Beardless Wonders: ‘Gaman vas Sóxu’ (The Sex Was Great)
    Oren Falk
    223

13. Prophetic Dreams and Visions in the Sagas of the Early Icelandic Saints
    Bernadine McCreesh
    247

14. Claiming Kin Skaldic-Style
    Russell Poole
    269

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

INDEX

vi