Globalization, Regionalization, and Domestic Trajectories in the Pacific Rim: The Economic Impact

Edited by

Melba Falck
Arturo Santa-Cruz

Universidad de Guadalajara

University of Technology Sydney
Contents

Notes on Contributors ............................................. 9

Foreword ...................................................................... 13

Introduction
Globalization, Regionalization, and Domestic Trajectories in the Pacific Rim: The Economic Impact ....................... 17
  Melba Falck and Arturo Santa-Cruz

Section I: Regionalism and Domestic Structures
1. Ambivalent Regionalism is Southeast Asia ..................... 37
   Lily Rahim

2. Regional Integration and Dis-integration in the Pacific:
   Economic Articulations .......................................... 69
   Kate Barclay

Section II: Globalization and Financial Liberalization
   Controls in Chile and Malaysia ................................... 103
   Arturo Santa-Cruz

4. Liberalization, Globalization, and Financial Structures in Four APEC Economies: Mainland China, South Korea, Mexico, and Peru (1980-2000) ................................. 137
   Geneviève Marchini
Section III: International Integration and Domestic Trajectories

5. Openness and Inequality: Can China Compensate the Losers of its WTO Deal? .................................................. 193
   Wang Shaoguang

   Melanie Beresford

7. NAFTA and the Dynamics of US-Mexico Economic Integration .................................................. 259
   Víctor López Villafañe

Section IV: International Integration and Domestic Agricultural Policies

   Roberto Hernández Hernández

9. Agricultural Policy in Japan: An Internal and External Paradox .................................................. 341
   Melba Falck