American Capitalism
Social Thought and Political Economy in the Twentieth Century

EDITED BY NELSON LICHTENSTEIN

PENN
University of Pennsylvania Press
Philadelphia
Contents

Introduction: Social Theory and Capitalist Reality in the American Century 1

Part I. Theorizing Twentieth-Century American Capitalism

1. The Postcapitalist Vision in Twentieth-Century American Social Thought 21
   Howard Brick

2. To Moscow and Back: American Social Scientists and the Concept of Convergence 47
   David C. Engerman

Part II. Liberalism and Its Social Agenda

3. Clark Kerr: From the Industrial to the Knowledge Economy 71
   Paddy Riley

   Kevin Mattson

5. The Prophet of Post-Fordism: Peter Drucker and the Legitimation of the Corporation 109
   Nils Gilman

Part III. A Critique from the Left

6. C. Wright Mills and American Social Science 135
   Daniel Geary
Contents

7. C. L. R. James and the Theory of State Capitalism 157
   Christopher Phelps

8. Oliver C. Cox and the Roots of World Systems Theory 175
   Christopher A. McAuley

9. Feminism, Women's History, and American Social Thought at Midcentury 191
   Daniel Horowitz

Part IV. The Rise of the Right

10. The Road Less Traveled: Reconsidering the Political Writings of Friedrich von Hayek 213
    Juliet Williams

    Alice O'Connor

    Kimberly Phillips-Fein

    Jennifer Burns

Notes 291

Contributors 361

Index 365

Acknowledgments 379