Beyond the Black Atlantic
Relocating modernization and technology

Edited by Walter Goebel and Saskia Schabio
Contents

List of contributors vii
Acknowledgements x

Introduction: relocating modernization and technology i

PART I
Negotiating African modernities 11

1 The presence of the past in peripheral modernities 13
BENITA PARRY

2 Black modernity, nationalism and transnationalism: the challenge of black South African poetry 29
LAURA CHRISMAN

3 Failure to connect – resistant modernities at national crossroads: Solomon Plaatje and Mohandas Gandhi 47
ELLEKE BOEHMER

4 Township modernism 63
IAN BAUCOM
Contents

PART II
Caribbean (in)versions of modernity
5 Ulysses and the shape-shifter: Caribbean modernity in Pauline Melville’s writings
SASKIA SCHABIO

6 V.S. Naipaul: the limitations of transnationalism and technological progress
WALTER GOEBEL

PART III
Colonial creations of the West
7 The technology of publicity in the Atlantic semi-peripheries: Benjamin Franklin, modernity, and the Nigerian slave trade
STEPHEN SHAPIRO

8 Spectrality’s secret sharers: occultism as (post)colonial affect
GAURI VISWANATHAN

PART IV
Peripheral interpretations of technology
9 Transitionality at home and abroad: some examples from India and its virtual diaspora
MARTINA GHOSH-SCHELLHORN

10 Technologies in Hanif Kureishi’s ‘The Body’
ANNETTE BÜHLER-DIETRICH

11 Travels in technotopia: modernization and technology in postcolonial utopian and dystopian writing
RALPH PORDZIK

Index 199