Preface and Acknowledgments
Katina Strauch

Introduction
Rosann Bazirjian & Vicky H. Speck

Keynote Speech
Growing Up Past Your Google™ Years: Libraries and the Next Generation of Learners
Stephen Abram, Micromedia ProQuest

Scholarly Communications

Pricing and Open Access
John Cox, Managing Director, John Cox Associates, Ltd.

Fair Pricing, Information Asymmetry, and a Proposal to Even the Playing Field
Philip M. Davis, Cornell University

Frederick J. Friend, Joint Information Systems Committee

Scholarly Communication and the Changing Landscape of Scholarship
Joyce L. Ogburn, University of Washington Libraries

Promotion of SPARC and Alternative Publishing Models in College Libraries
Rebecca Stuhr, Grinnell College Libraries, and Alison Ricker, Oberlin College

Alternative Models of Scholarly Communication and Publishing
Greg Tananbaum, President, The Berkeley Electronic Press

Archiving

Get It and Keep It
Matthew J. Bruccoli, University of South Carolina

Who Can We Trust: National Libraries?
Natalie Ceeney, The British Library

Creating Digital Archives: The Perspective of One Society Publisher
Timothy C. Ingoldsby, American Institute of Physics

Archiving with a Trusted Third Party: An Academic Library’s Perspective
Yvonne Lev, Associate University Librarian, Towson University
Archiving with a Trusted Third Party: OCLC’s Digital Journal Archive Service
Chuck Costakos, Director, Content Services, OCLC Online Computer Library Center, Inc.

Archiving with a Trusted Third Party
Eileen Gifford Fenton, JSTOR

Electronic Publishing
Electronic Resource Management: Value of In-House Development versus Vended Approach
Robert Alan, Head, Serials Department, Pennsylvania State University Libraries

Converting to E-Journals? When Do We Need to Keep Print?
Sandy Campbell, Science and Technology Library, University of Alberta, Edmonton

Value for Money in the Online Environment
John Cox, Managing Director, John Cox Associates, Ltd.

“A Slice of the Life of an Electronic Resources Maven”: Or—How Database Purchase Decisions Are Really Made in Libraries
Eleanor Cook, Appalachian State University, Stefanie DuBose, East Carolina University, Wes Daughtry, East Carolina University, and John Abbott, Appalachian State University

Managing the Migration
Pinar Erzin, General Manager, Extenza Marketing Solutions

Electronic Resource Management: A Vended Approach
Tony Harvell, Head of Acquisitions, UCSD Libraries

Journal Linking and Beyond
Carol A. Meyer, Maxwell Publishing Consultants, Winchester, Massachusetts, on Behalf of CrossRef

Opening up the Digital Box: What Deep Log Analysis Can Tell Us about Our Digital Journal Users
David Nicholas, City University, London, Paul Huntington, City University, London, Ian Rowlands, City University, London, and Bill Russell, Emerald

When Articles Vanish: Policy and Practice for Removing Articles from Full Text Collections
Anthony Watkinson, Consultant
Collection Development

Virtual Reference Collections for Virtual Services ..................................................151
Sandy Campbell, University of Alberta Library, Science and Technology
Library, Juliet Nielsen, Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Science and Technology Libraries, Kathy Carter, University of Alberta Library, Bibliographic
Services, and Susan Dahl, University of Alberta Library, Bibliographic Services

Defining Functional Requirements for Acquisitions Records:
The Next Step in Creating Standards ........................................................................160
Katharine Treptow Farrell, Princeton University Library, and Marc Truitt,
University of Houston Libraries

Bigger Isn’t Better: Quality Matters, Not Size ............................................................171
Michael Galda, President, Galda Library Services (Berlin, Germany), translated by Jan Erik Gjestvang-Lucky, U.S. Marketing Manager,
Galda Library Services (Madison, Wisconsin)

Improving Communication Between Publishers and Librarians .........................175
Deanna Graham, Blackwell Publishing

Collection Development Issues in Health Sciences Libraries:
Games, Rules, and Players .........................................................................................177
Ramune Kubilius, Galter Health Sciences Library, Northwestern
University, Chicago (Moderator), Jo Anne Boorkman, Carlson Health Sciences
Library, University of California, Davis, Beth Jacoby, Health Sciences & Human Services Library, University of Maryland, Baltimore, and Elizabeth Lorbeer,
Collection Development Manager, Rush University Medical Center, Chicago

Collecting Comic Books at the University of Memphis: A Beginning ...............179
Chris Matz, Collection Development Library, University of Memphis

Using Circulation, ILL, and Collection Characteristics for the Development of Policies for Collections and ILL Services ................................188
Heather Wicht, University of Colorado at Boulder, and Lynn Silipigni Connaway, OCLC Office of Research

Future of the Book

Planning for the Future of the Book: Some Longer-Term Financial Considerations in the Management of Book Stock ...............................................195
Patrick Scott, University of South Carolina

The Future of the Book: Robust or on Life Support? ..............................................198
Mark Herring, Winthrop University

The Future of the Book: The Clemson Experience ..................................................201
Wayne K. Chapman, Clemson University

The Future of the Book: Brighter Than You Might Expect .....................................205
Steven McKinzie, Dickinson College

Traditional Books and E-Books ...............................................................................208
Allene S. Phy-Olsen, Austin-Peay State University, Texas
| Technology |
|-----------------------------|------------------|
| Portals, Courseware, and More: Where Does the Library Fit In?.. | J. Christopher Holobar, The Pennsylvania State University |
| Integrating Vendor-Based Systems into Technical Services Operations | Rebecca L. Mugridge, Penn State University Libraries, and Nancy Markle Stanley, Penn State University Libraries |

| Users |
|-----------------------------|------------------|
| Not All Users Are Alike: How Do Age and Productivity Affect User Behavior? | Peter B. Boyce, Maria Mitchell Association and American Astronomical Society, Carol Tenopir, University of Tennessee, and Donald W. King, University of Pittsburgh |
| Patterns of Journal Use: What Are Our Users Telling Us? | Carol Tenopir, University of Tennessee, Donald W. King, University of Pittsburgh, and Peter B. Boyce, Maria Mitchell Association and American Astronomical Society |

Index

Table of Contents