Contents

THOMAS CLAVIEZ/ULLA HASELSTEIN/SIEGLINDE LEMKE
Introduction........................................................................................................7

The Transformative Potential of the Aesthetic

WOLFGANG ISER
Modes of Emergence....................................................................................19

HERBERT GRABES
Timely or Out of Joint?
Transformations of the Aesthetic and Cultural Change ............39

EMORY ELLIOTT
Aesthetic Headaches:
Politics and Art in the American Novel ..................................................59

Response: ULLA HASELSTEIN
The Power of Illusion and the Illusion of Power......................81

DONALD E. PEASE
Leo Marx's 'Ur' Theory of American Studies:
How 'Garden' Mechanisms Would Recover Control of the Field......................................................................................................95

Possibilities and Limits of Aesthetic Transgression

ANSGAR NÜNNING
Steps Towards a History of the Changing Cultural Functions of Literature: Metaphoric and Poetic Fictions of British Imperialism as a Test Case ..................................................119
Contents

Response: ASTRID FRANKE
The Poet's Burden .........................................................149

SIEGLINDE LEMKE
Transgressive Aesthetics:
Awe, Alterity, and Apprehension in The Scarlet Letter ..........163

STEFAN L. BRANDT
Hawthorne's Negative Romanticism:
Aesthetic Self-Reflection and the Discursivity of Story-Telling in 'Rappacini's Daughter'..........................195

CHRISTOF DECKER
The Ambiguous Critique of Lynch Law:
Fritz Lang and Hollywood's Representation of Injustice ..........221

SUSANNE ROHR
Transgressing Taboos:
Projecting the Holocaust in Melvin Jules Bukiet's After and Jonathan Safran Foer's Everything Is Illuminated ...........239

Modernism and the Function of Literature

HEINZ ICKSTADT
Aesthetic Experience and the Collective Life:
John Dewey's Democratic Aesthetics and the Peculiarities of American Modernism ..............................261

THOMAS CLAVIEZ
"Muted Fanfares":
The Topos of the Common Man in the Works of Walt
Whitman, William Carlos Williams and James Agee .............289

KURT MÜLLER
Modernist Point of View Technique and the Ethics of Reading: A Rortian Approach to Ernest Hemingway ..........315
Contents

FRANK MEHRING
"You don’t know Paree!"
Cultural Indifference in The Sun Also Rises ........................................337

DALIA EL-SHAYAL
Rita Dove’s Grecian Gift .................................................................361

List of Contributors .................................................................379