Latinos in the New South
Transformations of Place

Edited by

HEATHER A. SMITH
University of North Carolina, Charlotte

and

OWEN J. FURUSETH
University of North Carolina, Charlotte

ASHGATE
Contents

List of Figures vii
List of Tables ix
List of Contributors xi
Acknowledgements xiii

1 From Winn-Dixie to Tiendas: The Remaking of the New South
   Owen J. Furuseth and Heather A. Smith 1

2 New Neighbors in Dixie: The Community Impacts of Latino
   Migration to Tennessee
   Anita I. Drever 19

3 The South’s Silent Bargain: Rural Reconstructuring, Latino Labor and the Ambiguities of Migrant Experience
   Rebecca Maria Torres, E. Jeffrey Popke, and Holly M. Hapke 37

4 Migrants, Markets, and the Transformation of Natural Resources
   Management: Galax Harvesting in Western North Carolina
   Marla R. Emery, Clare Ginger, and Jim Chamberlain 69

5 New Destinations for Hispanic Migrants: An Analysis of Rural Kentucky
   Holly R. Barcus 89

6 Hispanic Population Growth and Public School Response in Two
   New South Immigrant Destinations
   William A. Kandel and Emilio A. Parrado 111

7 The Multiple Transformations of Miami
   Heike C. Alberts 135

8 Latino Communities in Atlanta: Segmented Assimilation Under Construction
   Susan M. Walcott and Arthur Murphy 153

9 Placing Latino/as in the Music City: Latino Migration and Urban Transformation in Nashville, Tennessee
   Jamie Winders 167
Latinos in the New South

10 Making Real the Mythical Latino Community in Charlotte, North Carolina
_Heather A. Smith and Owen J. Furuseth_

11 Transnationality, Social Spaces, and Parallel Worlds
_Altha J. Cravey_

12 Across Races and Nations: Social Justice Organizing in the Transnational South
_Barbara Ellen Smith_

13 The New South in Perspective: Observations and Commentary
_John W. Frazier and Mark E. Reisinger_

Index