The Matrix in Theory

Edited by

Myriam Diocaretz and
Stefan Herbrechter
TABLE OF CONTENTS

- Introduction
  Stefan Herbrechter
  7

- Section One: Cultural Phenomenon
  25
  - "So Tonight I'm Gonna Party Like It's 1999": Looking Forward to The Matrix
    Jon Stratton
    27
  - Revolution in The Matrix: A Cue Call for Reflexive Sociology
    Kimberly Barton
    53
  - Enter the Matrix: Interactivity and the Logic of Digital Capitalism
    Christian Krug and Joachim Frenk
    73

- Section Two: Virtualities
  95
  - Philosophy and The Matrix
    Chris Falzon
    97
  - Simulacra, Simulation and The Matrix
    Sven Lutzka
    113
  - Is There an Exit from “Virtual Reality?” Grid and Network – From Tron to The Matrix
    Elie During
    131

- Section Three: Embodiment
  151
  - Technofantasies and Embodiment
    Don Ihde
    153
  - Queering The Matrix: Hacking the Digital Divide and Slashing into the Future
    Aimee Bahng
    167
  - Sexing The Matrix: Gender and Sexuality in/as Cyberfiction
    Rainer Emig
    193
Section Four: Theory

Matrix – The New Constitution Between Hardware, Software and Wetware

Denisa Kera

The Matrix Trilogy and the Triumph of Virtual Reason – Territorialized Topoi, Nomadic Lines

Salah El Moncef Bin Khalifa

The Posthuman Subject in The Matrix

Stefan Herbrechter

“New Theory?” The Posthumanist Academy and the Beguilements of the Matrix Trilogy

Ivan Callus

Contributors