Contents

Introduction 3

STEPHEN GILL

William Wordsworth: “A Pure Organic Pleasure from the Lines” 43
CHRISTOPHER RICKS

Revision as Form: Wordsworth’s Drowned Man 73
SUSAN WOLFS ON

‘Dithyrambic Fervour’: The Lyric Voice of The Prelude 123
MARY JACOBUS

‘A Strong Confusion’: Coleridge’s Presence in The Prelude 147
LUCY NEWLYN

The Via Naturaliter Negativa 181
GEOFFREY H. HARTMAN
The Prelude and The Recluse: Wordsworth’s Long Journey Home 209
M. H. Abrams

The Image of a Mighty Mind (1805, Book 13) 225
Jonathan Wordsworth

The Creative Soul: Simplon Pass to Mount Snowdon 259
William A. Ulmer

Writing the Self/Self Writing: William Wordsworth’s Prelude 293
Anne K. Mellor

Wordsworth and the Conception of The Prelude 305
Howard Erskine-Hill

‘Some Other Being’: Wordsworth in The Prelude 321
Richard Gravil

A Transformed Revolution: The Prelude, Books 9–13 341
Alan Liu

A Language That Is Ever Green 374
Jonathan Bate

Suggested Reading 403