Marian Moments in Early Modern British Drama

Edited by

REGINA BUCCOLA
Roosevelt University, USA

LISA HOPKINS
Sheffield Hallam University, UK

ASHGATE
Contents

Contributors vii
Preface ix
Foreword by Arthur F. Marotti xiii

Introduction
Regina Buccola and Lisa Hopkins

1. ‘Here in this garden’: The Iconography of the Virgin Queen in Shakespeare’s Richard II
Helen Ostovich

2. ‘One that’s dead is quick’: Virgin re-birth in All’s Well That Ends Well
Alison Findlay

3. Inverting the Pietà in Shakespeare’s King Lear
Katharine Goodland

4. ‘Black but Beautiful’: Othello and the Cult of the Black Madonna
Lisa Hopkins

5. Desdemona and the Mariological Theology of the Will in Othello
Greg Maillet

6. The Wonder of Women: Virginity, Sexuality and Religio-Politics in Marston’s The Tragedy of Sophonisba
Thomas Rist

7. Easter Scenes from an Unholy Tomb: Christian Parody in The Widow’s Tears
Alice Dailey

8. Virgin Fairies and Imperial Whores: The Unstable Ground of Religious Iconography in Thomas Dekker’s The Whore of Babylon
Regina Buccola

9. Not kissing the (He)rod: Marian Moments in The Tragedy of Mariam
Stephanie Hodgson-Wright

Index 175