The Life of the Past: The discipline of history at the University of Melbourne, 1855-2005

Edited by

Fay Anderson and Stuart Macintyre
Table of contents

Contributors
i Abbreviations
v
Abbreviations in Notes
vi

Introduction
1

Chapter 1
Empires and Empiricism: The Teaching of History at The University Of Melbourne, 1855-1936
Richard Selleck

Chapter 2
‘Wot Larks To Be Aboard’: The History
Department, 1937-71
John Poynter

Chapter 3
Adapting to Change: The History Department,
1970-2004
John Salmond

Chapter 4
The First 95 Years: Women Academic Staff in the History Department, 1909 to 2004
Jane Carey and Patricia Grimshaw

Chapter 5
An Original Subject: 150 Years of Ancient History
Ronald T. Ridley

Chapter 6
Medieval and Early Modern European History
Charles Zika

Chapter 7
Modern European History in the Antipodes
Charles Sowerwine
Chapter 8
British History
Wilfrid Prest

Chapter 9
Discovering Australian History
Graeme Davison

Chapter 10
American History at Melbourne – A Conversation
David Goodman and Donna Merwick

Chapter 11
Teaching and Writing Asian Histories, 1958-2004
Antonia Finnane

Chapter 12
‘The Slowly Changing Status of Women’: Women’s Studies and Gender Studies
Joy Damousi

Chapter 13
Theory and Method
Robert Dare

Chapter 14
History in the Headlines
Stuart Macintyre and Fay Anderson

Chapter 15
The Honours Women, 1937-1966
Marjorie Theobold

Chapter 16
The Honours Graduates, 1967-2002
Fay Anderson and Stuart Macintyre

Index