Re-reading America: Changes & Challenges

Edited by Zhong Weihe and Han Rui
Contents

Introduction

Chapter One Re-reading American Fiction

Canon (Re)Formation: A Literary Revisionism
Hemingway, the Androgynous Writer
Gender-related Miscommunication in “Hills Like White Elephants”
Reconstruction of History and Utopia of Art
Quixotic Chivalry in Quentin Compson
Multiplicity and Simplicity: The Meaning of The Scarlet Letter
Narrative Function of Structural Sequence
Social Gaze in the Lives of the Fragmented Characters of the Jazz Age
The Narrator in Ethan Frome VS The Narrator in The Great Gatsby
What Makes Rabbit Come Back?
A Comparison between the Two Tragic Heroines: Miss Emily Grierson in William Faulkner’s “A Rose for Emily” & Blanche Dubois in Tennessee Williams’s A Streetcar Named Desire
Sacredness Profaned: A Study of Burlesque and Ridicule in Catch-22

Chapter Two American Poetry

Gary Snyder’s Sense of Nativeness
The Representation of Chinese Women in the Canon of American Literature: The Icon of “The River-Merchant’s Wife” Revisited
Stephen Crane’s Poetry of the Absurd
American Poetry Waiting for Breakthrough
Postcards from the Edge: Imaging the Filipina Migrant in the Poems of Fatima Lim-Wilson and Luisa Aguilar-Igloria

Chapter Three American Drama and Music

Interactive Frame, Inferences and Miscommunication in David Mamet’s Oleanna
M. Butterfly: A Subversive Performance of Icon
Lingering Folk Music Elements of the American South in Contemporary Film, Literature, and Society
The Times They are A-Changin’: What Future for the American Protest Song

Chapter Four American Cinema

The MTV Generation and Hollywood’s Post-Modern Adaptation of Romeo + Juliet
A License to Kill But Hollywood Never Dies: Re-reading Globalization, Americana and the Semiotic Empire
The ‘Deadly Ballet’ and That Legendary Bruce Lee

Zhong Weihe & Han Rui

Wang Ning
Dai Guiyu
Ma Jianjun
Liao Qiyi
Liu Jianbo
Ren Xiaojin
Shao Jindi
Zhou Jingqiong
Yang Jing
Jin Hengshan
Zhang Xin

Wang Yuanlu

Ou Hong
Jennie Wang
Huang Jiaxiu
Xu Wenbo
Ferdinand Lopez

Wang Hong
Xie Jingjing
Eddie McGee
Ian Chaplin

He Qixin
Mao Sihui
Li Yufeng
Constructions of Chinese Identity in Eat a Bowl of Tea and Chinese Box

Freedom in Resistance, Feminism and Thelma & Louise

American Crime Films as 20th Century Morality Plays: The Influence of the Production Code

Xie Jin and Cecil B. DeMille: The Importance of the Norm

Chapter Five Asian American Literature

The Foreigner at Home: Signifying the Difference of (Trans)-Nationalism in Recent Asian American Novels

Beyond the Celebration of Hybridity - On Kingston's Tripmaster Monkey

Resisting American Orientalism: Rereading Amy Tan as a Counter-discourse of American Mainstream Ideology

China as Represented in the Chinese American Novels

Chapter Six China's Reception of American Literature

Idea and Translation of American Literature in China: (1864-1979)

Life with Principle: Understanding Thoreau in China's Context

On the Reception of English Culture in China - Loanwords Translation Revisited

Chapter Seven Cultural Studies

The Laboring of American Culture

If A is for Allegory is P for Paranoia?: Reading American Culture

Cultural Spirit in Pearl Buck's Non-Fiction

The Tradition of Pragmatism in American Literature

Chapter Eight Feminist Studies

Feminist Values for the 21st Century: Re-Reading the Essays of Rebecca Harding Davis

Mainstreamizing the Marginalized - A Trajectory of American Women's Endeavor to Represent and Actualize the Self

Destiny of "the Second Sex" - A Study of the Heroine in The Awakening

On the Lesbian Love of Celie and Shug in Alice Walker's the Color Purple

Tar Baby: A Modern Black Fable
Chapter Nine African / Native American Studies

Figuring the Future in Los Angeles
Colorfully Embellished and Elaborately Carved: Beloved as Postmodern Narrative about Slave Experience
Ellison’s America - and Melville’s: The Question of Credit
The Geography of Character Among Native Americans

Hazel V. Carby 381
Chen Ping 389
Michael S. Collins 399
Tom Thornton 407

Chapter Ten Study of Social Sciences

The Love-Hate Relationship: China and the United States Since 1970 and the Impact upon American Studies in China
The Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution ... From a Basic Law for Civil Right to the “Magna Carta” of Big Business
Pros and Cons: US Campaign Finance Laws
Advertising, Mass Media and American Consumer Culture
Transnational American Studies and the Limits to Collaboration:
Implications Drawn from the Russian-U.S. Relationship

Priscilla Roberts 423
Zhou Baodi 432
Han Rui 439
Zhao Yinong 450
Jane Desmond 464