Contents

Acknowledgments  7
Timeline of Relevant Dates and Texts  9

Introduction: Reading Women, Reading Public and Private
DIANE E. BOYD AND MARTA KVANDE  17

Hanging On and Hanging In: Women’s Struggle to Participate in Public Sphere Debate
PAULA R. BACKSHEIDER  30

“The Constant Action of our Lab’ring Hands”: Mary Collier’s Demystification of Work and Womanhood in the Early Eighteenth Century
ARUNA KRISHNAMURTHY  67

Frances Brooke’s Environmental Vandalism: Carving Sexual Resistance on Trees in The History of Emily Montague
EMILY SMITH  94

A Space Between: Prostitutes Negotiating the Public and the Private in Memoir Novels of Eighteenth-Century France
ALISTAIRE TALLENT  116

“I had rather be obscure. But I dare not”: Women and Methodism in the Eighteenth Century
BRETT C. MCINELLY  135

Frances Burney and Frances Sheridan: Epistolary Fiction and the Public Sphere
MARTA KVANDE  159
Half-Spoken Contracts: The Coach, Social Identity, and Women’s Work in Belinda
DIANE E. BOYD 188

“A Walking Ought”: Displacement and the Public Sphere in Jane Austen’s Mansfield Park
SHEA STUART 205

Order in the Family Court: Maternal Disruption in Chancery, Roxana, and Maria
CHERYL L. NIXON 223

Bibliography 263
Notes on Contributors 279
Index 281