TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface ....................................................................................................................................................... vii

Variability in Accents of English: A Non-Native Speaker Perspective

Part One: Production and Perception

1. Una Cunningham Acoustic Variability in the Production of English Vowels by Native and Non-Native Speakers ............... 1
2. Adrian Leemann Vowel Quality of Swiss EFL Speakers ............... 16
3. Linda Shockey Poles Apart: Polish Students of English Excel in Casual Speech Perception ........................................ 33
4. Arkadiusz. Rojczyk Cross-Linguistic Priming on Vowel Duration and Delayed Plosion in Polish-English Bilinguals .......... 44
5. Andrzej Porzuczek Stress-Dependent Syllable Duration Variability in Polish Learners’ and Native British English Pronunciation .................................................................................. 64
6. Monika Zięba-Plebankiewicz Peak Alignment in L2 Intonation . 79
8. Anna Gralinska-Brawata Speech as a Marker of Social Identity – Geordie English ................................................. 102

Part Two: Reference Accents

1. Betina Beinhoff Looking for the ‘Real’ Native Speaker: The Perception of Native and Non-Native English accents by Non-Native Speakers of English ......................................................... 120
2. Rias van den Doel The Blind Spots of Jenkins’s Lingua Franca .. 140
3. Erzsebet Balogh Hungarian Student Language Attitudes towards Speakers of Regional American English Accent Varieties ............. 150
5. Irina Sklema-Litwin Unreduced Vowels and Non-Primary Stress in British and American English ...................................... 181
6. Tomasz Ciszewski The Stem-Suffix conflict? The Sources of Variability of Stress Patterns in –ate Formations ................. 195
Table of Contents

Part Three: Pronunciation Teaching

2. Galina Vishnevskaya Foreign Accent: Phonetic and Communication Hazards .......................................................... 235
3. Alice Henderson Short Course Focus on Intelligibility: What Type of Progress is Possible? ........................................ 252
4. Marta Nowacka How far is 'Hanover' form 'Hangover'? Misperception of Polish Ear ...................................................... 272
5. Mirosław Pawlak Another Look at the Use of Pronunciation Learning Strategies: An Advanced Learner's Perspective .... 304
6. Iwona Czyżak, Sławomir Stasiak, Jolanta Szpyra-Kozłowska English Pronunciation Clinic – the Case of Low Phonetic Achievers .................................................................................................................. 323