IMAGOLOGY AND CROSS-CULTURAL ENCOUNTERS IN HISTORY
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Preface........................................................................................................ 5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

1. Theoretical Perspectives on Imagology and History ........................................ 7

   A.W. Johnson, Imagology, Literature, and the Writing of History: Shakespeare’s Tempest and the Iconospheres of Prospero’s Books .................. 9
   Juho Mikkonen, Historical Imagology and the Modern Press ......................... 25
   Olavi K. Fält, Theoretical roots of the study of historical images .............. 37

2. Early Images of Others and Authority and Their Effect on Later Images..... 45

   Marika Rauhala, The Greek Mother of Gods – No Model for Mortals?........ 47
   Markus Mertaniemi, Values of Hatred: Rhetoric and Image of Christianity Before and During the Great Persecution 303–312 AD .......... 57
   Maijastina Kahlos, Bene currunt, sed in via non currunt. The Image of Good Pagans in fourth- and fifth-century Christian Literature ....... 63
   Päivi Collander, Romans Depictions and Political Perspective on the Huns as “Others” in Late Antiquity ......................................................... 71
   Inka Moilanen, Literary Parallels between Heavenly and Earthly Authorities in Early Medieval West ................................................................. 83
   Timo Sironen, A model in ethnic depiction – created 2000 years ago and adapted in 1684 on Lapps ..................................................................... 93

3. Images as Tools in the Reconstruction of National and Social Identities in 17th–19th Centuries............................................................... 99

   Esko Nevalainen, The Scottish National Covenant as a Symbol and the Identity of the Scottish Covenanters ......................................................... 101
   Jarmo Pulkkinen, Frederick II of Prussia and the Clockwork State ............ 109
   Marko Junkkarinen, Images on Socio-Ethnic Groups in Robert Morris’s Worldview ....................................................................................... 121
   Marja Vuorinen, Contact Becomes Conflict: Nobility as a Counter-Image of the Aspiring 19th Century Bourgeoisie .............................. 137
   Kati Parppai, Myths, Legends and Politics. The Formation of the Historiographical Image of the Monastery of Valaam ......................... 149
   Karin Hiiemaa, The Image of Africa in Estonian Printed Word .................. 161
   Andreas Lawaty, ”Germanic“ and ”Slavic“ as Concepts of German and Polish National Discourses ................................................................. 171
   Jyrki Outinen, Negotiating Others: The Image of the Turk in the Finnish Soldiers’ War Memoirs of the Russo-Turkish War in 1877–1878 ....... 193
4. Images of Class, Gender, and Enemy in 20th Century Imagination............ 203

Veronika Sušová, Images of Domination: Representations of Ethnic Hierarchies in Russian Geography Textbooks in 1875–1918 ....................... 205
David Ratz, The Early Image of Finland in Canada................................. 221
Raita Merivirta-Chakrabarti, "Good heroic Irish men and nasty, brutal British people"?: the Image of the British (and the Irish) in Irish Film...... 235
Tiina Lintunen, Images of Woman Enemies........................................... 249
Nina Työlahti, The New Woman – a Joint Venture? A Rebellious Image as a Cross-cultural Perception ............................................................. 259
Jan Záhořík, Before the War: Creating an Image of Ethiopia in Fascist Italy and Contemporary Europe................................................................. 269

5. Transformations of Images in Recent History............................................. 281

Kari Väyrynen, ‘Ecological Wisdom’ of Eastern Philosophy – Critical Perspectives......................................................................................... 283
Tuula Okkonen, Successful Abandonment of the Image of the Enemy and the Reorientation of the Japanese .................................................... 293
Henry Oinas-Kukkonen & Mikko Myllykangas, 15 Years of Transformations of ‘Oulu Phenomenon’ as a Symbol, 1988–2002 .............. 299
Kari Alenius, "Dishonest Estonians bear the responsibility for the failure". The image of the Estonian-Russian border negotiations in 2005 conveyed by Nezavisimaya Gazeta......................................................... 305

Notes on Contributors.................................................................................. 317