Detective Fiction in a Postcolonial and Transnational World

Edited by

NELS PEARSON
Fairfield University, USA

and

MARC SINGER
Howard University, USA

ASHGATE
Contents

Notes on Contributors vii

Introduction: Open Cases: Detection, (Post)Modernity, and the State
Nels Pearson and Marc Singer 1

1 Investigating Truth, History, and Human Rights in Michael Ondaatje’s Anil’s Ghost
Emily S. Davis 15

2 Postcolonial Noir: Vikram Chandra’s “Kama”
Claire Chambers 31

3 Postcolonial Epistemologies: Transcending Boundaries and Re-inscribing Difference in The Calcutta Chromosome
Maureen Lauder 47

4 Detective Narrative Typology: Going Undercover in the French Caribbean
Jason Herbeck 63

5 Out on Parole: Suspending Oral Culture’s Death Sentence in Patrick Chamoiseau’s Solibo magnifique
Greg Wright 81

6 A Journey Lost in Mystery: Mario Vargas Llosa’s Death in the Andes
Haiqing Sun 97

7 The Hunt for the World’s Greatest Outlaw: Imperialist Policing, the Journalistic Novel, and the “War on Terror” in Colombia
Robin Truth Goodman 115

8 “Sympathetic Traveling”: Horizontal Ethics and Aesthetics in Paco Ignacio Taibo’s Belascoarán Shayne Novels
Jennifer Lewis 135
9 Hot on the Heels of Transnational America: The Case of the Latina Detective
   Wendy Knepper

10 Walter Mosley's Devil in a Blue Dress: The Reforming Spirit of Neo-Noir
   Raphaël Lambert

11 Lost in Translation: The Multicultural Interpreter as Metaphysical Detective in Suki Kim’s The Interpreter
   Soo Yeon Kim

Index