New Perspectives on Narrative and Multimodality

Edited by Ruth Page
Contents

List of Figures and Tables vii
Permissions xi
Acknowledgments xiii

1 Introduction 1
RUTH PAGE

2 Multimodal Storytelling: Performance and Inscription in the Narration of Art History 14
FIONA J. DOLOUGHAN

3 A Multimodal Approach to Mind Style: Semiotic Metaphor vs. Multimodal Conceptual Metaphor 31
ROCIO MONTORO

4 The Computer-Based Analysis of Narrative and Multimodality 50
ANDREW SALWAY

5 Opera: Forever and Always Multimodal 65
MICHAEL HUTCHEON AND LINDA HUTCHEON

6 Word-Image/Utterance-Gesture: Case Studies in Multimodal Storytelling 78
DAVID HERMAN

7 “I Contain Multitudes”: Narrative Multimodality and the Book that Bleeds 99
ALISON GIBBONS
Contents

8 Multimodality and the Literary Text: Making Sense of Safran Foer's Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close 115
   NINA NØRGAARD

9 Electronic Multimodal Narratives and Literary Form 127
   MICHAEL TOOLAN

10 Gains and Losses? Writing it All Down: Fanfiction and Multimodality 142
   BRONWEN THOMAS

11 Respiratory Narrative: Multimodality and Cybernetic Corporeality in “Physio-Cybertext” 155
   ASTRID ENSSLIN

12 Cruising Along: Time in Ankerson and Sapnar 166
   JESSICA LACCETTI

13 Beyond Multimedia, Narrative, and Game: The Contributions of Multimodality and Polymorphic Fictions 183
   CHRISTY DENA

14 Keg Party Extreme and Conversation Party: Two Multimodal Interactive Narratives Developed for the SMALLab 202
   SARAH HATTON, MELISSA MCGURGAN, AND XIANG-JUN WANG

15 Coda/Prelude: Eighteen Questions for the Study of Narrative and Multimodality 217
   DAVID HERMAN AND RUTH PAGE

Contributors 221
Index 225