Mountains Figured and Disfigured in the English-Speaking World

Edited by

Françoise Besson
Table of Contents

List of Illustrations .......................................................... xiii
Acknowledgements .............................................................. xv
Introduction ................................................................. xix

PART I: POETRY IN THE SHAPES OF THE WORLD

Chapter One: “The Great Stone Book”

The Great Stone Book: Geology and the Mountain Imagination ......................... 5
Robert Macfarlane

Chapter Two: Writers’ Voices

Mountains of the Mind ..................................................... 33
Niyi Osundare

The Spiritual Mountain .................................................... 44
N. Scott Momaday

Imaginary Landscapes ..................................................... 59
Rick Bass

On Being on the Top of the World ....................................... 70
Rudy Wiebe

Wind Horse ..................................................................... 75
Thomas Wharton

Chapter Three: Mountains in British Poetry

Mountains in Andrew Marvell’s Lyrical Poetry: Variations on an Apocalyptic
Vision and a Locus Amoenus .................................................... 85
Jean-Pierre Mouchon
More than Mounts the Eye: Coleridge, Byron, De Quincey................. 95
Marc Porée

The Ekphrastic stakes in the Romantic interpretation of mountains........... 109
Michel Morel

"In the Hills on my own": Twentieth Century Scottish Poetry, the Writing of Perception ................................................................. 120
Stéphanie Noirard

Over Hill and Dale in the Border Ballads........................................ 130
Roland Bouyssou

"Under Ben Bulben": The Mountain in W.B. Yeats or the Meeting of the Ego and the Self ................................................................. 136
Michel Dufour

PART II: FROM SUBLIMITY TO ENVIRONMENTAL LITERATURE

Chapter Four: Aesthetic Mountains

The Emotional Truth of Mountains: Ruskin and J.M.W.Turner................. 151
Malcolm Andrews

The Artists' Vision of Mountains: Panoramic, Folded, or Angled Views? ................................................................. 166
Marie-Madeleine Martinet

In Sight of Mont Blanc: An Approach to Ruskin’s Perception of the Mountain ................................................................. 176
Laurence Roussillon-Constanty

The Mountains of Tibet in Powell & Pressburger’s Film Black Narcissus (1947) ................................................................. 185
Raphaëlle Costa de Beauregard

Chapter Five: Mountains in Environmental Literature

Thoreau's Mountains: Distant Outlines and Close Experience ..................... 199
Michel Granger

Winter, Montana: the Mountain Literature of Rick Bass.......................... 210
François Gavillon
Coming down the Mountain: Text and Counter-text in Rick Bass’s Caribou Rising ................................................................. 224
Yves-Charles Grandjeat

“What is a horizon without mountains”: Robert Laxalt’s Sweet Promised Land and the Allure of Mountainous Places................................. 235
Scott Slovic

Parker Mountain, or the Geography of Pathos in Russell Banks’s Affliction (1989) ................................................................. 243
Claire Omhovère

PART III: IMAGINARY AND REAL MOUNTAINS

Chapter Six: From Renaissance Drama to Gothic and Popular Literature

Milagro Ducassé-Turner

The Peak of Teneriffe: A “monstrous hill” in English Literature ............... 282
Tomas Monterrey

Mountains, Mezzotints and Gothic Imagery ........................................... 293
Maurice Lévy

The Sanctification of Mountains in Nineteenth-Century Literature and Painting: (Re)births and Epiphanies .............................................. 304
Françoise Dupeyron-Lafay

“Exhibiting awful forms”: Mountains and the Pictorial Framing of the Gothic in Ann Radcliffe’s The Mysteries of Udolpho ..................... 317
Alice Labourg

“Oh on the very brink of a precipice”: Landscapes of the Mind
in Wilkie Collins’s Basil (1852) ..................................................... 334
Laurence Talairach-Vielmas

Chapter Seven: Modern Literature

“Snowed up”: Women in Love by D. H. Lawrence ................................ 347
Philippe Birgy
“There is something unspeakable in these outposts” (PI): E.M. Forster’s Problematic Poetics of Ascent ........................................... 358  Catherine Lanone

From the Plains of Childhood to the Peaks of Adolescence in Philip Pullman’s His Dark Materials ........................................... 372  Susanne Voogd

Fantasy and Landscape: Mountains as Myth in Neil Gaiman’s Stories ........ 379  Cyril Camus

Mountains in the English Writings of Three Lebanese Authors ............ 392  Jacqueline Jondot

Chapter Eight: Mountains as Texts

Climbing as Thinking and Writing: The Cheirographic Poetry of Liliane Welch ........................................................................ 405  Harry Vandervlist

Mountains and Writing in Thomas Wharton’s Icefields ....................... 413  Gautier Sanz

Museums for the Nation: The Mountain and the Text in Willa Cather’s Fiction .................................................................... 419  Aurélie Guillain

“[T]hings among the ruins” in Willa Cather’s The Song of the Lark and The Professor’s House .................................................... 430  Céline Manresa

Seeing and Being Seen from the Mountaintop: The Case of Needles Lookout in T.C. Boyle’s “Sitting On Top of the World” ................... 439  Caroline Roussel

In the Footsteps of Footsteps: Holmes and Stevenson in the Cévennes .... 451  Ellen Lévy

PART IV: DIALOGUES BETWEEN MEN AND MOUNTAINS

Chapter Nine: Mountain Climbing

Dream Journeys ........................................................................... 467  Kev Reynolds
Following the Progress of the Mountain Mission: The Critique of Heroism and Nationalism in Auden and Isherwood's The Ascent of F6 ........................................ 476
Tim Youngs

Mountain Refuse: Rescue and Responsibility in Alpine Sports ......................... 488
Brady Harrison

Count Henry Russell (1834-1909), or Violence Negated .................................. 496
Gilles Duval

From the Barometer to the Ice-axe, British Visions of Mountain Scenery in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries ................................................................. 508
Michel Tailland

Yester-year and Today’s British in Haute Savoie: The Flavour of the Alps ........ 520
Christine Geoffroy

Naming the Karakoram: the Debate of the 1930s ............................................. 531
Shobhana Bhattacharji

Chapter Ten: Mountains and History

Ideas clash on the mountain tops: Politics of the Mountain and National Sentiment in Twentieth-Century Scotland ............................................................... 545
Camille Manfredi

Beyond the “Racial Mountain”: Identity Journeys in Two Contemporary Ghanaian Novels ..................................................... 556
Marie-Jeanne Gauffre

A Quest for Heroic Romance in the Hindu Kush Mountains: Border Reivers and Afghan Highlanders after the First Anglo-Afghan War (1839-1842) ..... 573
Irina Kantarbaeva-Bill

Mountains and History in the Literature of Raymond Williams ..................... 581
Chris Williams

Dream, Reality and Mountain Virtues in The Scots Magazine ........................ 593
Daniel Decotterd
Chapter Eleven: Sacred, Mythical and Healing Mountains

The Representation of the Mountain in Religious English Literature from the Sixteenth to the Seventeenth Century ................................................................. 607
Jean-Louis Breteau

Thus Spoke the Great White Brotherhood: “Thou shall seek and rise on Mount Shasta!” ........................................................................................................... 623
Bernadette Rigal-Cellard

Mythic Mountains in the United States: Sacredness and the Law .............. 634
Susanne Berthier-Foglar

Australian Mountains—Myths, Disfigurement, and Regeneration ............ 646
Colette Selles

Todd Shimoda and the Ellipses of Mt Fuji .................................................. 661
Marie-Lise Assier

The Blue Mountains of Dreams as Healing Landscapes .......................... 671
Françoise Besson

Select Bibliography ........................................................................................ 689

Contributors .................................................................................................. 707

Index ............................................................................................................. 719