CONTENTS

List of Illustrations ix

Acknowledgements xi

Introduction: Becoming Visible

Alison Easton, R.J. Ellis, Janet Floyd, and Lindsey Traub 1

PART I

The Changing Geography of Public and Private 15

1 Claiming Visibility: Women in Public / Public Women in the United States, 1865-1910

Anne M. Boylan 17

2 Dangerous Working-class Women: Mother Jones, Lucy Parsons, and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn

Janet Zandy 41

3 Visible Women in the Needle Trades: Revisiting the Clothing Industry in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries

Margaret Walsh 63

4 Women’s Employment in the Public and Private Spheres, 1880-1920

S.J. Kleinberg 81

5 “If Iola Were a Man”: Gender, Jim Crow and Public Protest in the Work of Ida B. Wells

Mia Bay 105

6 “Outdoor Relief”: Sarah Orne Jewett, Annie Adams Fields and the Visit in Gilded Age America

Alison Easton 129
PART II
STEPPING OUT: BODIES, SPACES AND THE CULTURAL REPRESENTATION OF VISIBILITY

7 Negotiating Visibility: Louisa May Alcott’s Narrative Experiments
Lindsey Traub

8 “People Will Think You Have Struck an Attitude”: Fashionable Space in Emma Dunham Kelley-Hawkins’ Novels
R.J. Ellis

9 “Magnificent Equipment”: Body, Sound and Space in the Representation of the Female Singer
Janet Floyd

10 The Painful Production of Verena Tarrant: John Locke and The Bostonians
Peter Rawlings

11 “The True American Woman”: Narcissa Owen’s Embodied National Narrative
Karen L. Kilcup

12 American Women Travelers and the Material Feminine
Shirley Foster

PART III
BECOMING “MODERN”

13 Gendering Modernity: Frances E. Willard’s Politics of Technological Sentimentality
Timothy A. Hickman

14 Women, Anti-imperialism and America’s Christian Mission Abroad: The Impact of the Philippine-American War
Susan K. Harris
Notes on Contributors 327

Select Bibliography 331

Index 355