Edited by
Michael J. Meyer
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements xiii
Series Editors’ Preface xv
Introduction xix

Genius and the (Un)Dead Girls: Consumption, Artistry, and the Female Body in The Song of the Lark
Meghan L. Burke 1

Anatomy Is All: The Pathology of Voice in The Song of the Lark
Cecilia Björkén-Nyberg 21

Künstlerroman Revised: Doubleness and Catharsis in Willa Cather’s The Song of the Lark
Erica D. Galioto 39

Immeasurable Yearnings: The Artistic Legacy of the Landscape in Cather’s The Song of the Lark
Danielle Russell 67

Place, Inspiration, and the Railroad in Willa Cather’s The Song of the Lark
Annette R. Dolph 91

A Place Apart: Transcending Social Topographies in The Song of the Lark
Tony R. Magagna 107

The Kingdom of Culture: Culture, Ethnology and the “Feeling of Empire” in The Song of the Lark
Eric Aronoff 127

Locating Mexicans in The Song of the Lark
Sarah Clere 149

“You Are What You Read”: Wharton’s Undine Spragg and Cather’s Thea Kronborg
Julie Olin-Ammentorp 165
A Tale of Two Sisters: The Influence of "Goblin Market" on Cather's The Song of the Lark
Debra Cumberland

"The Inevitable Hardness of Human Life": The Song of the Lark as Naturalism
Richard S. Pressman

Willa Cather's Transitional Novel: The Song of the Lark as a Romantic-Naturalistic Novel with a Modernist Center
Ann Moseley

Gift Giving and Community in Cather's The Song of the Lark
Beth E. Torgerson

About the Authors

Abstract of Arguments

Index