Contents

Acknowledgments xi
Map of New England xiv
Introduction 1
Richard W. Judd and Blake Harrison

Part I Landscape, Nature, and Regional Identity 15

1 Regional Identity and New England Landscapes 17
Joseph A. Conforti

2 The Handselled Globe 37
Natural Systems, Cultural Process, and the Formation of the New England Landscape
Kent C. Ryden

Part II Forests and Mountains 51

3 New England Forests 53
Two Centuries of a Changing Landscape
Lloyd C. Irland

4 Women and the White Mountains 71
Changing Visions of Nature in New England, 1830-1930
Kimberly A. Jarvis
Part V Villages, Towns, and Cities

14 New England's Legacy Landscape
   Joseph S. Wood

15 Water and Steam
   How Industrial Power Shaped the New England Landscape
   Marti Frank

16 "Preserving the Illusion of Being Transported Back into the Past"
   Remaking Landscapes through Historic Preservation
   James M. Lindgren

17 "Wrought in the Spirit of Our Ancestors"
   Ethnicity, Scale, and the Reinvention of a New England Town
   Scott C. Roper

18 Landscape and Class
   Public Parks as Environmental Amenities in Nineteenth-Century Boston
   Phil Birge-Liberman

19 The Evolution of Twentieth-Century Boston's Metropolitan Landscape
   James C. O'Connell

20 The Toxic Assault on the New England Landscape
   Eric J. Krieg

21 Conclusion
   Richard W. Judd and Blake Harrison

   Afterword: "Back in a time made simple by the loss/Of detail . . ."
   John Elder

About the Contributors

Index