Better Off Dead

The Evolution of the Zombie as Post-Human

Edited by

Deborah Christie and Sarah Juliet Lauro

Fordham University Press

New York 2011
Acknowledgments vii

Introduction

SARAH JULIET LAURO AND DEBORAH CHRISTIE 1

And the Dead Shall Rise

Part introduction by Kevin Boon 5

1. “They are not men . . . they are dead bodies”: From Cannibal to Zombie and Back Again
   CHERA KEE 9

2. “We are the mirror of your fears”: Haitian Identity and Zombification
   FRANCK DEGOU (TRANSLATED BY ELISABETH M. LORE) 24

3. Undead Radio: Zombies and the Living Dead on 1930s and 1940s Radio Drama
   RICHARD HAND 39

4. The Zombie as Other: Mortality and the Monstrous in the Post-Nuclear Age
   KEVIN BOON 50

And the Dead Shall Walk

Part introduction by Deborah Christie 61

5. A Dead New World: Richard Matheson and the Modern Zombie
   DEBORAH CHRISTIE 67

6. Nuclear Death and Radical Hope in Dawn of the Dead and On the Beach
   NICK MUNTEAN 81
7. Lucio Fulci and the Decaying Definition of Zombie Narratives
   STEVEN ZANI AND KEVIN MEAUX 98

8. Imitations of Life: Zombies and the Suburban Gothic
   BERNICE MURPHY 116

9. All Dark Inside: Dehumanization and Zombification in Postmodern Cinema
   SORCHA NÍ FHLAINN 139

And the Dead Shall Inherit the Earth
Part introduction by Peter Dendle 159

10. Slacker Bites Back: Shaun of the Dead Finds New Life for Deadbeats
    LYNN PIFER 163

11. Zombie Movies and the “Millennial Generation”
    PETER DENDLE 175

12. “Off the page and into your brains!”: New Millennium Zombies and the Scourge of Hopeful Apocalypses
    MARGO COLLINS AND ELSON BOND 187

    and Your Neighborhood
    SARAH JULIET LAURO 205

Afterword: Zombie (R)evolution
    SARAH JULIET LAURO 231

Notes 237
Selected Bibliography 277
List of Contributors 285
Index 289