Adaptation and American Studies

Perspectives on Research and Teaching
With an Afterword by Linda Hutcheon
Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments vii

NASSIM W. BALESTRINI
Adaptation Studies and American Studies: Interfaces 1

JONATHAN ELKUS AND NASSIM W. BALESTRINI
Adaptation and the American Band Tradition:
A Conversation with Jonathan Elkus 31

DAVID STARKEY
Adapting the Unreal: Composing an Alternate History for Emily Dickinson 69

SIOBHAN O'FLYNN
Designing for the Interactant:
How Interactivity Impacts on Adaptation 83

LESLIE C. DUNN
“Many Kinds of Music”:
Adapting Shakespeare’s Song/Play 103

KATHRYN S. KOO
Returning to the Source: Captain John Smith’s
The Generall Historie and the Making of Terrence Malick’s The New World 117

UTE RITZENHOFEN
The English Patients: Teaching the Novel,
the Screenplay, and the Movie 133
MARK CANTRELL
Dark Soundings: Teaching
Heavy Metal Adaptations of Moby-Dick 147

DANIEL STEIN
Teaching Poetry through Song Adaptation:
Abel Meeropol’s and Billie Holiday’s “Strange Fruit” 171

JILL L. LEVENSON
The Adaptations of Juliet and Her Romeo 195

LINDA HUTCHEON
Moving Forward:
The Next Stage in Adaptation Studies 213

Index 218

List of Contributors 241