Gothic Science Fiction
1980–2010

Edited by
SARA WASSON and EMILY ALDER

LIVERPOOL UNIVERSITY PRESS
Contents

Acknowledgements ix
List of illustrations x
Foreword xi
    Adam Roberts

Notes on contributors xv

Introduction 1
    Sara Wasson and Emily Alder

Part I: Redefining Genres

1 In the Zone: Topologies of Genre Weirdness 21
    Roger Luckhurst

2 Zombie Death Drive: Between Gothic and Science Fiction 36
    Fred Botting

Part II: Biopower and Capital

3 ‘Death is Irrelevant’: Gothic Science Fiction and the Biopolitics of Empire 57
    Aris Mousoutzanis

4 ‘A Butcher’s Shop where the Meat Still Moved’: Gothic Doubles, Organ Harvesting and Human Cloning 73
    Sara Wasson
CONTENTS

5 Guillermo del Toro's Cronos, or the Pleasures of Impurity 87
   Laurence Davies

6 Infected with Life: Neo-supernaturalism and the Gothic Zombie 102
   Gwyneth Peaty

7 Ruined Skin: Gothic Genetics and Human Identity in Stephen Donaldson's Gap Cycle 116
   Emily Alder

Part III: Gender and Genre

8 The Superheated, Superdense Prose of David Conway: Gender and Subjectivity beyond The Starry Wisdom 133
   Mark P. Williams

9 Spatialized Ontologies: Toni Morrison’s Science Fiction Traces in Gothic Spaces 149
   Jerrilyn McGregory

10 The Gothic Punk Milieu in Popular Narrative Fictions 168
    Nickianne Moody

11 Gothic Science Fiction in the Steampunk Graphic Novel
   The League of Extraordinary Gentlemen 189
   Laura Hilton

Index 209