Table of Contents

Pascal Nicklas and Oliver Lindner
Adaptation and Cultural Appropriation ........................................ 1

Rainer Emig
Adaptation in Theory ................................................................ 14

Deborah Cartmell
Familiarity versus Contempt: Becoming Jane and the Adaptation Genre. . . 25

Eckhart Voigts-Virchow
Pride and Promiscuity and Zombies, or: Miss Austen Mashed Up in the Affinity Spaces of Participatory Culture ............................. 34

Simone Murray
Where Did Your Adaptation Begin?: Book Fairs, Screen Festivals and Writers’ Weeks as Engine-rooms of Adaptation ............................ 57

Monika Pietrzak-Franger
Conversing with Ghosts: Or, the Ethics of Adaptation ....................... 70

Peter Childs
Cultural Heritage / Heritage Culture: Adapting the Contemporary British Historical Novel ................................................................. 89

Norbert Schaffeld
Revisiting Shakespeare: Elizabeth Rex as Filmic Metatext .................. 101

Oliver Lindner
"An Entirely Different and New Story": A Case Study of Tim Burton’s Planet of the Apes (2001) ......................................................... 117

Richard J. Hand
Grisly Skeletons and Happy Endings: The Adaptations and Appropriations of Joseph Conrad’s Fiction .................................................. 132

Kamilla Elliott
The Adaptation of Adaptation: A Dialogue between the Arts and Sciences ............................................................... 145
Lindie Dovey
Fidelity, Simultaneity and the ‘Remaking’ of Adaptation Studies ........ 162

Lucia Krämer
Brontë meets Bollywood: The Ambivalences of Appropriation and Adaptation in Tamasha’s Wuthering Heights ........................................ 186

Eckhard Breitinger
Odysseus, Crusoe and the Making of the Caribbean Hero.
Derek Walcott’s Variations of Great Traditions .............................. 203

Daria Tunca
Appropriating Achebe: Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie’s Purple Hibiscus and “The Headstrong Historian” ............................................. 230

Christiane Schlote
Revisiting Bolton: Transcultural Adaptation and Regional Identity in Ayub Khan-Din’s Rafta, Rafta ................................................. 251

List of Contributors ................................................................. 264
Index ......................................................................................... 269