Contents

New developments in corpus linguistics and the study of language variation and change
Kristin Bech and Gisle Andersen

Variation in time: Corpus studies in the history of English

Writing the corpus-based history of spoken English: The elusive past of a cleft construction
Christian Mair

Discourse communities and their writing styles: A case study of Robert Boyle
Lilo Moessner

The diphthongisation of ME ĭ: The spelling evidence
Gjertrud F. Stenbrenden

Variation in space: Corpus studies of contemporary features of English

Verb complementation in South Asian English(cs): The range and frequency of “new” ditransitives
Christopher Koch and Tobias Bernaisch

Functional variation in the English present perfect: A cross-varietal study
Xinyue Yao and Peter Collins

Gender, culture and language: Evidence from language corpora about the development of cultural differences between English-speaking countries
Johan Elness

Clause-final man in Tyneside English
Kathrin Luckmann de Lopez

They have published a new cultural policy that just come out:
Competing forms in spoken and written New Englishes
Cristina Suárez-Gómez and Elena Seoane
Variation in genre: Corpus studies of English for Specific Purposes

Exploring the dialogism of academic discourse: Heteroglossic Engagement in medical research articles
Daniel Lees Fryer

Texturing a responsible corporate identity: A comparative analysis of Appraisal in BP’s and IKEA’s 2009 corporate social reports
Matteo Fuoli

How specific is English for Academic Purposes? A look at verbs in business, linguistics and medical research articles
Natassia Schutz