BEYOND THE COLD WAR

Lyndon Johnson and the New Global Challenges of the 1960s

EDITED BY
Francis J. Gavin
and Mark Atwood Lawrence

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS
CONTENTS

Acknowledgments vii
Contributors ix

Introduction 1
FRANCIS J. GAVIN AND MARK ATWOOD LAWRENCE

PART I Thinking Beyond East and West

1. Lyndon Johnson and the Challenges of Economic Globalization 17
   DANIEL SARGENT
2. Towards a New Deal for the World? Lyndon Johnson’s Aspirations to Renew the Twentieth Century’s Pax Americana 44
   PATRICK O. COHRS
3. Moving Beyond the Cold War: The Johnson Administration, Bridge-Building, and Détente 76
   THOMAS A. SCHWARTZ

PART II Internationalizing the Great Society

   SHEYDA JAHANBANI
5. LBJ’s Third War: The War on Hunger 118
   NICK CULLATHER
6. LBJ and World Population: Planning the Greater Society One Family at a Time 141
   MATTHEW CONNELLY
7. Globalizing the Great Society: Lyndon Johnson and the Pursuit of Smallpox Eradication 165
   EREZ MANELA
PART III  Adapting to a World of Scarcity

8. “Thinking Globally”: American Foreign Aid, Paul Ehrlich, and the Emergence of Environmentalism in the 1960s  185
   TOM ROBERTSON

9. “More a Gun at Our Heads than Theirs”: The 1967 Arab Oil Embargo, Third World Raw Material Sovereignty, and American Diplomacy  207
   CHRISTOPHER R. W. DIETRICH

PART IV  Shifting Moralties

10. The Rise of Human Rights during the Johnson Years  237
    SARAH B. SNYDER

11. Globalized Faith, Radicalized Religion, and the Domestic Sources of US Foreign Policy  261
    ANDREW PRESTON

Index  285