American Women’s Ghost Stories in the Gilded Age

Dara Downey
University College Dublin, Ireland
Contents

Acknowledgments viii

Introduction

1. ‘Fitted to a Frame’: Picturing the Gothic Female Body 14

2. ‘Handled with a Chain’: Gilman’s ‘The Yellow Wall-Paper’ and the Dangers of the Arabesque 39

3. ‘Dancing Like a Bomb Abroad’: Dawson’s ‘An Itinerant House’ and the Haunting Cityscape 64

4. ‘Solemnest of Industries’: Wilkins’ ‘The Southwest Chamber’ and Memorial Culture 90

5. ‘Space Stares All Around’: Peattie’s ‘The House That Was Not’ and the (Un)Haunted Landscape 121

6. ‘My Labor and My Leisure Too’: Wynne’s ‘The Little Room’ and Commodity Culture 152

Afterword

179

Notes

181

Index

205