Contents

Introduction (Leos Müller and Hannò Brand) 7

Long Term Perspectives

1. Jan Glete, Cities, state formation and the protection of trade in northern Europe, 1200-1700 13
2. Sven Lilja, Peoples, towns and states. Structural power resources and state power in the Scando-Baltic region (1500-1820) 24

The Hanseatic Period

4. Mike Burkhardt, One hundred years of thriving commerce at a major English sea port. The Hanseatic Trade at Boston between 1370 and 1470. 65
5. Justyna Wubs-Mrozewicz, 'Alle goede coepluyden ...' Strategies in the Scandinavian trade politics of Amsterdam and Lübeck c. 1440-1560 86
6. Hanno Brand, Habsburg and Hanseatic diplomacy during the Sound controversy of 1532 102
7. Louis Sicking, A wider spread of risk: a key to understanding Holland’s domination of eastward and westward seafaring from the Low Countries in the sixteenth century. 122

Trade and Markets in the Early-Modern Period

11. Bo Poulsen, Markets, prices and consumption. The herring trade in the North Sea and Baltic region, c. 1600-1850 185
12. Philip Kelsall, The changing relationship between Denmark and the Netherlands in the latter half of the seventeenth century 205
13. Michiel de Jong, Dutch merchants and their interests in Dutch and foreign state finances, 1615-1630: the case of bilateral subsidies and loans at the start of the Thirty Years War 223

14. Andrej Kotljarchuk, Riga and commercial aspects of the Lithuanian-Swedish relations during the seventeenth century 240

About the authors 251