Religious Diversity in Post-Soviet Society
Ethnographies of Catholic Hegemony and the New Pluralism in Lithuania

Edited by

MILDA ALIŠAUSKIENĖ and INGO W. SCHRÖDER
Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania

ASHGATE
Contents

List of Tables and Figures
List of Contributors
Acknowledgements

Introduction
Milda Ališauskienė and Ingo W. Schröder

1 Catholic Majority Societies and Religious Hegemony: Concepts and Comparisons
Ingo W. Schröder

2 The History of Religion in Lithuania since the Nineteenth Century
Arūnas Streikus

3 "We Are All in Exile Here": Perceptions of Death, the Soul, and the Afterlife in Rural Lithuania
Lina Pranaitytė-Wergin

4 The Elusive Religious Field in Lithuania
Ingo W. Schröder

5 From Confrontation to Conciliation: On Syncretic Rapprochement between Catholics and Charismatic Evangelists in Lithuania
Gediminas Lankauskas

6 Romuva Looks East: Indian Inspiration in Lithuanian Paganism
Michael F. Strmiska

7 The New Age Milieu in Lithuania: Popular Catholicism or Religious Alternative?
Milda Ališauskienė

8 Muslims in Catholic Lithuania: Divergent Strategies in Dealing with the Marginality Status
Egdūnas Račius
9 The Neo-Buddhist White Lotus Movement in Search for Legitimacy

Donatas Glodenis

Concluding Thoughts

Ingo W. Schröder

Index
List of Tables and Figures

Tables

2.1 Religious minorities in Lithuania 1927 42
2.2 Officially registered parishes and ministers of the religious confessions in 1951 48

Figures

5.1 Church of Christ’s Resurrection, Kaunas, Lithuania; photo by author 113
5.2 Catholic believers at mass in the Church of Christ’s Resurrection; photo by author 115
7.1 The Pyramid of Merkinė, Lithuania; photo by author 163
7.2 Three Crosses near the Pyramid of Merkinė, Lithuania; photo by author 164
9.1 Classification of religious organizations (according to Stark and associates and Doktór) 192