Unarchived Histories
The "mad" and the "trifling" in the colonial and postcolonial world

Edited by Gyanendra Pandey
Contents

List of illustrations ix
List of contributors x
Preface and acknowledgments xiii

Introduction 1

1 Unarchived histories: The “mad” and the “trifling” 3
GYANENDRA PANDEY

PART I
The state and its record(s) 21

2 Peasant as alibi: An itinerary of the archive of colonial Panjab 23
NAVYUG GILL

3 A death without cause: Mary E. Hutchinson’s un-archived life in certified death 41
JAE TURNER

4 “Standard deviations”: On archiving the awkward classes in northern Peru 58
DAVID NUGENT

PART II
Everyday as archive 73

5 Feminine écriture, trace objects and the death of Braj 75
RASHMI DUBE BHATNAGAR
Contents

6 Brown privilege, black labor: Uncovering the significance of Creole women's work 96
NATASHA L. MCPHERSON

7 Unfriendly thresholds: On queerness, capitalism and misanthropy in nineteenth-century America 110
COLIN R. JOHNSON

PART III

Signs of wonder 125

8 Of kings and gods: The archive of sovereignty in a princely state 127
ADITYA PRATAP DEO

9 Geography's myth: The many origins of Calcutta 144
DEBJANI BHATTACHARYYA

10 Un-archiving Algeria: Foucault, Derrida, and Spivak 159
LYNNE HUFFER

Index 179