CONTENTS

General Editor's Preface
MAX SAUNDERS 9

Introduction
ROB HAWKES 13

SECTION 1: SOUND, SILENCE, AND PERFORMANCE

- 'A Taboo on the Mention of Taboo': Taciturnity and Englishness in Parade's End and André Maurois' Les Silences du Colonel Bramble
  JOHN ATTRIDGE 23

- From Conversation to Humiliation: Parade’s End and the Eighteenth Century
  SARA HASLAM 37

- 'Are You Going to Mind the Noise?': Mapping the Soundscape of Parade’s End
  TOM VANDEVELDE 53

- Wagner's Ring Cycle and Parade’s End
  ANGUS WRENN 67

- 'The 'ind Legs of the Elephink': Pantomime, Prophecy, and Tosh in Parade’s End
  JOHN B. MURPHY 81

SECTION 2: PSYCHO-GEOGRAPHY OF WAR

- Panorama, the Map, and the Divided Self: No Enemy, No More Parades, and Tolkien’s The Lord of the Rings
  MICHAEL CHARLESWORTH 95
Sight and Scale in Parade's End
ELIZABETH HODGES 107

How Much Mud Does a Man Need?
Land and Liquidity in Parade's End
SEAMUS O'MALLEY 119

Tietjens Walking, Ford Talking
PAUL SKINNER 129

War and Division in Parade's End
ADAM PIETTE 141

SECTION 3: CONTRASTS: LOVE, DEATH, AND ALTERITY

Ford and Lewis: The Attraction of Opposites
ROB SPENCE 153

‘Cleaned, Sand-Dried Bones’:
Christopher Tietjens and the Labour of War
AUSTIN RIEDE 161

Articulations of Femininity in Parade’s End
ISABELLE BRASME 173

‘Better Far’: Ford and Rossettian Attitudes
ALEC MARSH 187

Death in the Wasteland: Ford, Wells, and Waugh
JOSEPH WIESENFARTH 197

Contributors 207

Abstracts 213

Other Volumes in the Series 221

The Ford Madox Ford Society 223