

C O N T E N T S

	Page
Chap. I. Introduction	1
Objectives	1
Derivation and Early Use of Vocabulary	5
Methodology	13
Chap. II. Shame and Disgrace in Hartmann's Erec	15
Vocabulary	16
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	22
Conclusion	29
Chap. III. Shame and Disgrace in Hartmann's Iwein	31
Vocabulary	32
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	36
Conclusion	43
Chap. IV. Shame and Disgrace in Lanzelet	46
Vocabulary	47
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	48
Conclusion	58
Chap. V. Shame and Disgrace in Wolfram's Parzival	60
Vocabulary	61
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	66
Conclusion	89
Chap. VI. Shame and Disgrace in Wigalois	92
Vocabulary	94
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	96
Conclusion	102
Chap. VII. Shame and Disgrace in Die Crône	105
Vocabulary	107
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	110
Conclusion	123
Chap. VIII. Shame and Disgrace in Daniel	127
Vocabulary	127
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	130
Conclusion	136

Chap. IX. Shame and Disgrace in Three Arthurian Poems of Pleier	141
Garel von dem Blühenden Tal	141
Tandareis und Flordibel	146
Meleranz	149
Conclusion	151
Chap. X. Shame and Disgrace in Two Short Works of the Late Thirteenth Century	154
Wigamur	154
Gauriel	159
Conclusion	164
Chap. XI. Shame and Disgrace in Albrecht's Jüngerer Titirel	167
Vocabulary	169
Shame and Disgrace in Individual Episodes	175
Conclusion	189
Chap. XII. Conclusion	193
Recurrent Sources of Disgrace at Court	194
The Nature and Function of Disgrace	198
Bibliography	208
Index	216