Contents

Figures xi
Tables xiii
Acknowledgments xv
Introduction xvii

Part I Overview and Summary

1. Forty Acres and a Mule: Placing a Price Tag on Oppression
   William Darby, Jr.

Part II Economic History and the Current Benefits and Costs of Slavery

2. Past History and Current Policy: The Legacy of Slavery
   Stanley L. Engerman

3. Who Pays for Slavery?
   Roger L. Ransom and Richard Sutch

15

17

31
4. An Appraisal of the Estimated Rates of Slave Exploitation
   Sheryl Bailey-Williams

Part III Slavery and the Economics of Discrimination

5. Black Labor in the American Economy since Emancipation: What Are the Legacies of History?
   Warren C. Whatley and Gavin Wright

6. A Calculation and Comparison of the Current Benefits of Slavery and an Analysis of Who Benefits
   Larry Neal

7. Estimated Present Value of Income Diverted during Slavery
   James Marketti

   Richard Vedder, Lowell Gallaway, and David C. Klingaman

9. Slave Exploitation in Neoclassical Economics: Criticism and an Alternative Direction
   Susan F. Feiner and Bruce B. Roberts

Part IV Achieving Racial Equality through Restitution

10. Racial Inequality and Reparations
    David H. Swinton

    (Berkeley Working Paper #1)

12. Income Transfers: Are They Compensation for Past Discrimination?
    Sheldon Danziger and Peter Gottschalk

13. The Social Debt to Blacks: A Case for Affirmative Action
    Stanley H. Masters

14. What Was Lost: The Cost of Slavery and Discrimination for Blacks
    Lynn C. Burbridge

15. Achieving Parity through Reparations
    Robert S. Browne
16. Conclusions 207
Selected Bibliography 209
Index 211
About the Editor and Contributors 215
Figures

3.1 Exploitation of Slaves as a Percentage of U.S. GNP, 1805–1860 33
3.2 Crop Output and Consumption per Slave, Current Dollars, 1806–1860 37
3.3 Gross and Net Exploitation Rates of Slaves, 1805–1860 38
5.1 Racial Wage Distributions in Virginia, All Industry, 1907 72
5.2 Racial Wage Distributions in Selected Southern Industries, 1907 73
5.3 Racial Wage Distributions in Selected Virginia Industries, 1926 80
11.1 Estimating Benefits from Race Discrimination 166
11.2 Benefit from Employment Discrimination 166
Tables

3.1 Estimates of the Value of the Slave Stock and the Aggregate Value of Private Assets, Current Prices, 1840, 1850, and 1860 32

3.2 Exploitation of Slave Output in 1859 34

3.3 Price, Exploitation, Consumption, and Output of a Slave, Census Years 1809 to 1859 36

A.1 Annual Estimates of the Average Price of a Slave, Value of Crop Exploitation, Value of Children Born, and the Consumption Provided a Slave, 1806–1860 47

A.2 Value of Slave Output Produced by Free and Coerced Labor, Consumption Denied Slaves, 1806–1860 49

A.3 Exploitation of Slaves as a Percentage of Gross National Product, 1806–1860 51

A.4 The Rate of Exploitation of Slaves, 1806–1860 53

5.1 Farm Wage Rates (Daily without Board) Deflated by Williamson’s COL Series for Unskilled Labor 75

5.2 Southern Lumber Wage Deflated by Williamson’s COL Series 76

5.3 Indices of the North-South Wage Gap: Southern Farm Wage/Urban Unskilled Wage 77

5.4 Intercensal Rates of Net Black Outmigration, 1890–1970 78

6.1 Costs and Revenues Associated with Raising a Slave to Age 18 96
6.2 The Present Value of the Appropriate Surplus of Slaves Aged 18
6.3 Comparison of Slave and Immigrant Benefits to 1914
Appendix: Detailed Calculations of Slaveowners’ Benefits
7.1 Slave Population by Decade, 1790–1860
7.2 Slave Prices by Decade, 1790–1860
7.3 Present Discounted Value of Slave Income by Decade, 1790–1860
7.4 Present Discounted Value of Slave Income by Decade (V_t) and Decade Change in Current and Adjusted Prices
7.5 Present Value of Income Diverted Through 1860
7.6 Present Value Through 1983
Appendix: Methodology Used for Table 7.1
8.1 Estimated Exploitation of Slaves, 1820–1860
8.2 Wealth Effects of Slavery
8.3 Slaveowner and White Per Capita Income Derived from Slave Exploitation in 1850
8.4 Black and White Income Per Capita
8.5 Net Migration from the South, 1870–1930
8.6 Black-White Family Income Differentials, 1907–1985
8.7 Family Incomes for Various Groups, United States, 1985
11.1 Estimated Benefits from Labor Market Discrimination, 1929–1984
12.1 Mean Earnings of Nonaged Household Heads by Sex and Race of Head, 1968 and 1983
12.2 Mean Household Pretransfer and Posttransfer Income, by Sex and Race of Nonaged Head, 1968 and 1983
12.3 The Antipoverty Impact of Cash Transfers, 1968 and 1983
12.4 Decomposition of Poverty for Nonaged White and Nonwhite Heads of Households with Children, 1968–1983