Contents

List of tables
Notes on contributors
Preface

1 Introduction: women and perestroika
   Mary Buckley 1

2 The industrial labour force
   Judith Shapiro 14

3 Women and agricultural reform
   Sue Bridger 39

4 Political reform
   Mary Buckley 54

5 New women’s organisations
   Ol’ga Lipovskaia 72

6 Between feminism and nationalism: new women’s groups in the Ukraine
   Solomea Pavlychko 82

7 The zhensovety revisited
   Genia Browning 97

8 The new women’s studies
   Natal’ia Rimashevskaiia 118

9 ‘Cuckoo-mothers’ and ‘apparatchiks’: glasnost and children’s homes
   Elizabeth Waters 123
Contents

10  Going out in ‘style’: girls in youth cultural activity
    Hilary Pilkington  142

11  Gynoglasnost: writing the feminine
    Barbara Heldt  160

Index

176
Tables

2.1 Women in the paid labour force by broad sector, 1989 census
   \[ \text{page 16} \]

2.2 A guide to republican differences in Soviet women’s work experience
   \[ \text{17} \]

2.3 Selected occupations of women in the paid labour force, according to USSR censuses 1979 and 1989
   \[ \text{18} \]

4.1 Number of women elected in 1989 to the Congress of People’s Deputies and to the Supreme Soviet \[ \text{57} \]