

Table of Contents

Foreword Franz-Theo Gottwald	9
Introduction: European Social Science: The Rationale for an Assessment Bernd Biervert and Meinolf Dierkes	11
Part I. Social and Natural Sciences: Chances and Limits to Learn from Each Other
The Influence of Natural Science Theories on Contemporary Social Science Renate Mayntz	27
The Natural Science Approach to Social Behavior Hubert Markl	80
Part II. The Social Science Disciplines: Different Bases to Meet Common Challenges
Anthropology in Western Europe: Recent Trends and Per- spectives Anton Blok	123
Nature, Environment, Ecology, and Social Systems in Advanced Industrialized Societies Paul Claval	143

Social Psychology Evolving. A Progress Report Klaus R. Scherer	178
Sociology Friedhelm Neidhardt and Neil J. Smelser	244
Discourse and Discipline: Political Science as Project and Profession Björn Wittrock	268
The Economy, Economics, and Society: The Current State of the Formation of Economic Theory Bernd Biervert and Josef Wieland	309
Demography in Western Europe Since 1945 Rainer Münz	331
 Part III. Established Research Fields in Transition: Three Examples
Political Mobilization and Participation Klaus von Beyme	371
Changing Inequality Structures in Europe: The Challenge to Social Science Lee Rainwater	391
Sources and Management of Global Economic Instabilities Bruno Fritsch and Ralf Wiedenmann	416

Part IV. Nature, Time, Globalization:
Thematic Orientation for the Future

Time in the Social Sciences: Theoretical and Empirical Approaches

Helga Nowotny 481

Concepts of Nature in Modern Societies and Nature as a Theme in Sociology

Wolfgang van den Daele 526

Economics and the Economy in the Total World System

Kenneth E. Boulding 561

Part V. Social Science in and for Europe

Internationally Comparative Research in Europe:
The Underutilized Resource

Ariane Berthoin Antal and Meinolf Dierkes 585

European Social Science in Transition: Conclusions and Recommendations

Meinolf Dierkes and Peter Wagner 611

List of Contributors 638