

Contents

1. The Great Experiment in Autarky	1
The Soviet Union in the Global Economy	4
The Global Economy in the Soviet Economy	16
The Monopoly of Foreign Trade	18
Gorbachev's View of the USSR in the Global Economy	24
2. The Diplomatic Offensive	33
New Faces for a New Policy	34
Entry into the GATT	35
The USSR and the Bretton Woods Institutions	40
Normalizing Bilateral Economic Relations	47
The Limits to Diplomacy	54
3. Requiem for a Foreign Trade Monopoly	55
Selective Devolution of the Foreign Trade Monopoly	57
Extension throughout the Economy	67
Joint Ventures	77
The Modest Impact of the Reforms	80
The Balance of Payments Crisis of 1990	83
The Deeper Roots of the Disappointing Results	88
4. Stagflation and Disunion	89
The Path to Economic Crisis	90
Radicalization of the Reform Debate	101
Debate over the Union	106
The 500-Day Plan	119

5. The New Post-Soviet Economies	130
From Shatalin to the Coup 132
What Kind of Market? 138
Through Chaos to the Market 144
Open for Business? 149
Western Governments and the Post-Soviet Economies 153
Index	157
Tables
1-1. The Size of the Soviet Economy, 1985	5
1-2. Soviet Trade with Nonsocialist Countries, 1980, 1985, 1989	12
1-3. Imports and Gross Sales, by Sector, for the Soviet Union in 1988	18
1-4. Import Shares of Purchases of Selected Products in the Soviet Union, 1985, 1988, 1989	19
3-1. Foreign Exchange Auctions, 1989–91	75
3-2. Soviet Exports of Manufactured Goods to Nonsocialist Countries, 1985, 1987–89	81
3-3. Soviet Terms of Trade with Nonsocialist Countries, 1980, 1985–89	85
3-4. Soviet Exports, Imports, and Balance of Trade with Capitalist Countries, 1980, 1985–90	85
4-1. Selected Economic Indicators for the USSR, Official Soviet Data, 1981–90	100