Contents

List of Tables vii
List of Figures ix
Preface x
Notes on the Contributors xi
Abbreviations xii

1 Introduction 1
   K. A. Ingersent, A. J. Rayner and R. C. Hine

2 The Uruguay Round: Agenda, Expectations and Outcomes 8
   David Greenaway

3 The US Perspective 26
   Jimmye S. Hillman

4 The EC Perspective 55
   K. A. Ingersent, A. J. Rayner and R. C. Hine

5 The Cairns Group Perspective 88
   Rod Tyers

6 The Canadian Perspective 110
   T. K. Warley

7 The Japanese Perspective 140
   Kenzo Hemmi

8 The LDC Perspective 157
   L. Alan Winters

9 The Food Industry Perspective 182
   Simon Harris
Contents

10 Perspectives on EC Agricultural Policy Reform
   Secondo Tarditi
   203

11 Agricultural Policy Reform after the Uruguay Round
   David Harvey
   223

12 Agriculture in the Uruguay Round: an Assessment
   K. A. Ingersent, A. J. Rayner and R. C. Hine
   260

Notes and References
   291

Bibliography
   302

Author Index
   314

Subject Index
   317
List of Tables

1.1 Net percentage PSEs, 1979–1986 2
1.2 Chronology of the Uruguay Round 4
2.1 The GATT negotiating rounds 10
2.2 Post Tokyo Round tariff reduction averages in principal industrialised countries (per cent) 12
2.3 Incidence of non-tariff measures in principal industrialised countries 13
2.4 Uruguay Round negotiating groups 16
2.5 Uruguay Round trade-offs 21
3.1 Total transfers associated with agricultural policies (in billion US dollars) 30
3.2 Summary of key elements of US agricultural proposal to the GATT, 15 October 1990 45
5.1 The Cairns Group, 1987–1989 91
5.2 The Cairns Group in world production and trade: a comparison with the ‘Big Three’ 92
5.3 The Cairns Group in world agricultural commodity exports 93
5.4 The Cairns Group as destination for ‘Big Three’ exports 94
5.5 Average food trade distortions in Cairns Group and other industrial countries 96
5.6 Effects of industrial country food trade distortions on Cairns Group food exports 97
5.7 Effects of industrial country food trade distortions on welfare in Cairns Group countries 98
5.8 Effects of EC unilateral reform, combined with EFTA membership, on international prices and on EC–EFTA production and net trade in 2000 104
5.9 Effects of EC–12 unilateral reform on production and net trade in 2000 105
5.10 The effects of unilateral EC Reform and EFTA membership on economic welfare in 2000 106
6.1 Canada’s agrifood trade, 1989 114
6.2 Producer subsidy equivalents, Canada, 1979–1986 average, and 1987 to 1990, percentages 116
List of Tables

6.3 Aggregate measure of support, Canadian agriculture, 1987–1988, C$ millions 117
6.4 Aggregate net farm cash income, Canada, 1981–1992, $C million and percentages 119
7.1 Estimated farm size needed to reduce costs of production of rice 152
9.1 Aggregate levels of consumer subsidy equivalent by country (in % of consumer value) 188
9.2 Operation of EC export refund mechanism 197
10.1 Welfare effects of policy alternatives 220
11.1 Progress of MacSharry reform proposals, EC 230
11.2 Base data and primary illustrative calculations 240
11.3 Illustrative policy measures 241
List of Figures

6.1 A synoptic view of Canada’s agricultural support programmes and domestically-oriented negotiating objectives 116
10.1 Economic development and agricultural employment share in the EC 206
10.2 Farm assets and incomes per agricultural working unit in the EC 206
10.3 Distribution of farms by family farm income per person 208
10.4 Relation between labour income and farm size 208
10.5 Structural impact of alternative prices 217
10.6 Welfare effects of alternative policy measures 219
10.7 Impact of non-tradable quotas at firm and industry levels 221
11.1 Stylized representation of different support instruments (EC, cereals) 239
11.2 Percentage adjustment of world commodity prices towards free trade levels under PEGs at 100% and 80% of 1986 quantities 252