Contents

Introduction: In Search of Postmodern Reason 1

1 Morality without Ethics 10
   Society: the operation cover-up • Facing the unfaceable
   • Weaving the veil • The veil pierced • The veil torn up
   • Morality uncovered • Ethical laws, moral standards

2 Forms of Togetherness 44
   Being-aside, being-with, being-for • Convention and commitment • The unbearable uncertainty of being-for
   • The good is in the future

3 Broken Lives, Broken Strategies 72
   Breaking out, into prison • Acceleration and its discontents: 'quality of life' • Acceleration and its discontents: 'identity'
   • Modern life as pilgrimage • The world inhospitable to pilgrims • The pilgrim's successors • What chance of morality? What chance of polity?

4 A Catalogue of Postmodern Fears 105
   Fears of Panopticon • From purveyors of goods to sensations-gatherers • From health to fitness • The body under siege • From handling to tasting

5 The Stranger Revisited – and Revisiting 126
   Two strategies of living with strangers • The stranger, as seen by the flâneur • The stranger ante portas • The stranger, Janus-faced
6 Violence, Postmodern
The drifting frontier • The ways and means of separating deeds and morals • Adiaphorization, the postmodern version • Violence, do-it-yourself style • An inconclusive conclusion

7 Tribal Moralities

7.1 The Body as Task
Guarding the frontiers of civilization • Border control privatized

7.2 Racism, Anti-racism and Moral Progress
The administration of strangers • Moral progress? • The new world disorder, or res spacing the world • Insecurity and cruelty

7.3 A Century of Camps?
Modernizing cruelty

7.4 ‘Antisemitism’ Reassessed
Jews are unlike the others • Jews mean the impossibility of order • Changing times, changing places

8 Morality and Politics

8.1 Intellectuals in the Postmodern World
Modern origins of the intellectuals • The ‘intelligentsia’ of the civilizational periphery • Estrangement and engagement • The social dislocation of intellectuals • Towards a recomposition?

8.2 Europe of Nations, Europe of Tribes

8.3 An Epilogue: Threats and Chances, Old and New
The story so far . . . • . . . and the beginning of a new story • The chances of moral togetherness • The new community? • Between hope and despair • New ethics in search of new politics • Can we do it? Will we do it?

Index