Contents

Tables and Figures ix
Acknowledgments xi

I: OVERVIEW

1 Introduction: What Debate?
   Cathy A. Rakowski 3

   Caroline O. N. Moser 11

   Cathy A. Rakowski 31

4 The Many Roles of the Informal Sector in Development:
   Evidence from Urban Labor Market Research, 1940–1989
   Orlandina de Oliveira and Bryan Roberts 51

II: MACRO LEVEL POLICY ISSUES

5 The Impact of Government Policies on Microenterprise
   Development: Conclusions from Empirical Studies
   Carl Liedholm 75

6 Macroeconomic Policy and the Informal Sector
   Jeffrey R. Franks 91

7 When More Can Be Less: Labor Standards,
   Development, and the Informal Economy
   Alejandro Portes 113

8 Informality, de Soto Style: From Concept to Policy
   Ray Bromley 131
9  Inside Informal Sector Policies in Latin America: An Economist's View
   Gustavo Márquez

III: MICRO LEVEL INTERVENTION ISSUES

10  The Role of Governments and Private Institutions in Addressing the Informal Sector
    in Latin America
   María Otero

11  Training and Technical Assistance for Small and Microenterprise: A Discussion of
    Their Effectiveness
    Cressida S. McKean

IV: A CLOSER LOOK AT POVERTY, PLANNING, AND POWER

12  Informality and Poverty: Causal Relationship or Coincidence?
    Vanessa Cartaya

13  Transaction Costs, Formal Plans, and Formal Informality: Alternatives to the Informal "Sector"
    J. Douglas Uzzell

V: CONCLUSION

14  Contrapunto: Policy, Research, and the Role of the State
    Cathy A. Rakowski

Bibliography

Contributors

Author Index

Subject Index
Tables and Figures

Tables

3.1. Comparison of Selected Aspects of the Four Major Approaches, 1984–1993 34

4.1. Occupational Stratification in Latin America, 1940–1980 55

5.1. Inventory of Policies by Functional Groupings 77

5.2. Factor and Product Markets: Points of Policy Intervention for Production, Employment, and Size Distribution of Firms 78

5.3. Policy-Induced Factor Price Distortions, Large Firms and Microenterprises, Expressed as Percent Difference in Large Firms’ Costs Relative to Microenterprise Costs 84

7.1. Segmentation of the Economically Active Population (EAP), 1950–1980 120

7.2. Minimum Labor Standards 125

10.1. Government Approaches to Informal Sector Collaboration 188

10.2. Advantages and Disadvantages of Government and NGOs in Microenterprise Development 193

11.1. Characteristics of Microenterprise Assistance Programs: Standard (Traditional) and Minimalist (Nontraditional) 206

11.2. Comparison of Indicators, Microenterprise Credit Programs, Standard or Minimal Technical Assistance (TA), Women’s Participation 208
12.1. Evolution of the Economy, Labor Force, and Poverty 228
12.3. Income Levels by Household Income Strata 235
12.4. Educational Attainment by Household Income Strata 236
12.5. Labor Force Participation and Income by Sectors and Household Income Strata 239
13.1 Comparison of Transaction Costs 258
14.1 Selected Recommendations for Research and Policy 277

Figures

7.1 Modes of Articulation Between Formal and Informal Sectors in Latin America 117