

CONTENTS

Preface	V
Acknowledgements	IX
Abbreviations	XII
Introduction	1
Increasing diversity of the workforce	7
The shift from manufacturing to the service sector	8
The shift in workers' skill levels	9
The public and private sectors	12
Greater participation of women in the workforce	15
The increase in peripheral workers	20
Targeting specific ethnic groups	24
Changing patterns of youth employment	25
External concerns confronting trade unions	35
Legislation and employers' attitudes	35
Technological change	41
Training	44
Productivity, competition and internationalization	47
Human resources management	51
Broader societal concerns	53
The expansion of unions' and workers' influence	56
National level	56
Enterprise level	58
Unions' internal structures and strategies	69
Improving efficiency	69
Cooperation with other groups	75
Research and extended services	78
The training of union officials	81
Improving relations with members and the public	82
Conclusion	91
Bibliography	93