Contents

Introduction

The history of mass slaughter and its threat
Attitudes to war
The argument of this book
The organization of this book
Sources and resources

Episode 0 The trenches

1 War and Slaughter

Mass killing
War
Degenerate war
Categories of violence
Revolution as war
Episode I The Armenian genocide

2 Genocide as a Form of War

Destruction

Intention

A form of war

On slaughter

Post-degenerate, anti-genocidal war?

Episode II Stalinism’s mass murders

3 Organizing Violence

State power

Systems and politics

World war to world order?

Future wars

Episode III Nazism, war and the Holocaust

4 Producing Destruction

Industrialism and war

New technology, new war economy

Economy of slaughter zones

Episode IV Japan’s genocidal wars

5 Thinking War

Ideologies of war and peace

Cultures of slaughter

Nations and nationalism
Race and gender 115
Media of war 118

Episode V Allied bombing in 1939–45 126

6 Killing Spaces 128
Historical battlefields 128
Modern killing spaces 131
Global era slaughter spaces 136
Media as battlespace 140

Episode VI Nuclear war preparation 145

7 Combatants and Participants 147
Combatants and non-combatants 147
Armed forces 149
New killing forces 153
Social groups and war participation 155

Episode VII The Cambodian genocide 166

8 Victims 168
Victimhood and its appropriation 169
From battlefield to civilian death 171
Military logic in genocide 175
Ethnic and cosmopolitan victims 176
Gendered violence 178
Irrationality of slaughter 181

Episode VIII Genocidal war in Yugoslavia 190
9 Movements

Resistance 195
Movement 197
Change 204

Episode IX War and genocide in Rwanda 211

10 Just Peace 214

Old thinking about war 215
War management 217
Demands for justice 220
From slaughter to safety 228
Peace and cosmopolitan democracy 232

Episode X The new Western way of war 238

Conclusion 241
Index 243
Tables

2.1 The context of war in selected genocidal episodes of the twentieth century 42
2.2 Genocide as a type of war 45