BARCELONA
the urban evolution of a compact city

Joan Busquets
Summary

Table of Contents

Introduction
- 17

I. From its origins to capital of the medieval Mediterranean
- 25
  1.1 The birth of Barcelona. A two thousand year old city 25
  1.2 The patterns of a Roman colony 26
  1.3 Reuse of the Roman city and urban crisis 31
  1.4 The res-birth of Barcelona 36
  1.5 Social evolution in the Middle Ages leads to the creation of a new urban world 38
  1.6 The formation of Catalonia and the capital of the Counts 41
  1.7 The Consell de Cent as the government of the City of the Counts 42
  1.8 Medieval urban structure 43
  1.9 Barcelona, capital of the Western Mediterranean 47
  1.10 Maritime activity in the city without a port 49
  1.11 The splendour of the Catalan Gothic 51
  1.12 Cultural expansion and city development 54
  1.13 The ideal city 56

II. From the urbanisation of the Raval to the start of industrialisation
- 59
  11.1 The population crisis in Barcelona 59
  11.2 The influence on the city of a change of dynasty 59
  11.3 The consolidation of urban culture 60
  11.4 Medieval production means and the city streets 63
  11.5 The third town wall completes Ciutat Vella 65
  11.6 Barcelona's Rambla 68
  11.7 Barcelona and the Castilian kings 71
  11.8 Columbus reaches Barcelona. Catalonia and the Americas 72
  11.9 The Barcelona Plain and its surrounding farmland 74
  11.10 A “difficult century”, but one in which the port acquires its definitive form 76
  11.11 Urbanisation of the city 79
  11.12 Decreto de Nueva Planta 80
  11.13 The emergence of new ideas and the dawn of the modern city 82
  11.14 Eighteenth-century Barcelona 85
  11.15 The construction of the Citadel 85