Contents

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS vii
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS xi
INTRODUCTION 1

PART ONE: EARLY IMAGES OF THE CITY

Introduction 6
Nicholas Bullock

1 The City in Twilight: Charting the Genre of the ‘City Film’, 1900–1930 8
Helmut Weihsman

2 Robert Mallet-Stevens: Architecture, Cinema and Poetics 28
Odile Vaillant

3 ‘Only Film Can Make the New Architecture Intelligible!’: Hans Richter’s
Die neue Wohnung and the Early Documentary Film on Modern Architecture 34
Andres Janser

PART TWO: THE MODERN CITY I: London/Paris/New York/Rome

Introduction 50
Gavin Hogben

4 Imagining the Post-War World: Architecture, Reconstruction and the British Documentary Film Movement 52
Nicholas Bullock

5 Architecture in the Films of Jacques Tati 62
Francois Penz

6 The Color of New York: Places and Spaces in the Films of Martin Scorsese
and Woody Allen 70
Patricia Kruth

7 Insiders and Outsiders: Latent Urban Thinking in Movies of Modern Rome 84
David Bass

PART THREE: THE MODERN CITY II: People in Space

Introduction 102
Maureen Thomas

8 The Space Between: Photography, Architecture and the Presence of Absence 104
Ian Wiblin
PART FOUR: THE VIRTUAL CITY I: Architecture in Movement

Introduction
   François Penz
11 Using Digital Techniques and Videos in Architectural Education
   Annie Forgia
12 The Physical and Conceptual Assembly of Architectural Form
   Earl Mark
13 Architecture or Cinema? Digital 3D Design and the World of Multimedia
   Michael Eleftheriades
14 Experiencing Virtual Reality
   Joachim Sauter

PART FIVE: THE VIRTUAL CITY II: The Marriage of Art and Science

Introduction
   Henning Camre
15 Production Design As Process
   Diana Charnley
16 Film Architecture: The Imagination of Lies
   Christopher Hobbs
17 Computer-Aided Art Direction
   Paul Richens
18 Looking to the Future – Imagining the Truth
   Zbig Rybczynski

FILMOGRAPHY
INDEX